War Department Plans Hearing on Rondout Harbor Improvement at Court House Nov. 7

Meat Decontrol Petition Is Awaited, but No Sign Of Plans Is Indicated

Hurricane Loses Force in Florida, Damage Is Slight

Worst of Storm Proves to Be Moderately High Winds; Crops Safe

Miami, Fla., Oct. 8 (AP)—A hurricane which boiled up in the western Caribbean to whirl furiously toward the thickly populated Florida west coast miraculously lost its force today, sparing the area from heavy damage.

Tampa, St. Petersburg, and other resort cities in the Tampa Bay area had prepared for the worst. But the worst turned out to be only moderately high winds early today which swept on up the Florida mainland, turning inland and heading toward south Georgia and South Carolina.

A freakish twist, as often is the history of tropical storms, brought relief to the worried, rich west coast. The 125-mile an hour winds suddenly dropped to gusts of 50 miles or so. There was no official explanation—only relief.

Even the bumper citrus crop appeared to have escaped. First reports from Lakeland, heart of the grapefruit and orange belt, said the loss was minor. A record-breaking crop with a value of $150,000,000 has been forecast for this season.

The weakened hurricane which crossed the Florida peninsula this morning was expected to remain inland with continued movement over southeastern Georgia and South Carolina today and tonight although strong winds were indicated as far north as Atlantic City.

West of Jacksonville

The Federal storm warning service in a 7:15 a. m. (E.S.T.) advisory placed the storm a short distance west of Jacksonville and moving 30 to 35 miles an hour with greatly "decreased intensity."

Jacksonville had felt winds up to 45 miles an hour in gusts with lowest pressure 29.20, the advisory stated.

The hurricane with early winds reported as high as 125 miles an hour at the center entered the mouth of Tampa Bay about midnight with great loss of intensity and moved across the states' rich citrus belt.

The 7:15 a. m. advisory stated the inland movement of the storm will cause further loss of intensity, and gale winds near the storm center will gradually moderate today and tonight.

To Remove Warnings

The storm warnings will be lowered all over Florida as the winds subside today.

However, precaution against high tides and squally shifting winds should be continued on the Georgia coast and northward to Charleston. Strong winds occasionally reaching gale force will be felt as far north as Atlantic City.

Second Floor Fire Proves Stubborn

Fire Prevention Week Is Begun With Blaze on Second Avenue.

A fire that broke out in a clothes closet in a bedroom on the second floor of the house of William J. Wolfel at 13 Second avenue, did considerable damage to the closet and two bedrooms before it was extinguished by the fire department.

The fire, of undetermined origin, was discovered by one of the children of the family when the child went upstairs to go to bed, and the fire broke out in flames.

An alarm was sounded from box 2421 at 8:53 o'clock, and it was 10 o'clock that night before the fire was brought under control.

Officials of the fire department said the heat was so intense that it burned the paint on the windows and doors of all the rooms on the second floor of the house.

The fire last night marked the first day of the observance of Fire Prevention Week in Kingston.

Anderson Is Reported Waiting for White House Reaction to Proposals

Washington, Oct. 8 (AP)—The fight for decontrol of beef headed for a showdown today when the Beef Advisory Committee formally authorized filing of a petition to remove price ceilings from cattle, beef and veal.

The committee voted 11 to 1 to petition for decontrol, and authorized Robert G. Thomas, executive vice president of the Lima Packing Company, Lima, Ohio, and Roscoe G. Haynie, committee chairman and vice president of Wilson & Company, Chicago, to sign the appeal.

Haynie told reporters that the petition will be based on a contention that, under terms of the Price Control Act, beef is eligible for decontrol. One eligibility requirement is that beef cattle be in ample supply.

Haynie declined to name the committee member who refused to vote for a decontrol petition. However, he said the member felt that this is not the proper time for the action.

An O.P.A. official told reporters the agency now is working on new regulations which he said deal with distribution of meat supplies and increases in prices on some meats.

Negotiations Underway

The decontrol action was announced by the War Department today, saying that negotiations are under way for a "loan" of 20,000,000 pounds of beef belonging to Great Britain to meet requirements for troops overseas.

The Department had said earlier the negotiations were for Argentina's exportable surplus.

Today's announcement said that under plans being discussed with Britain the United States would repay the British with meat, pound for pound, prior to February 28.

This was the day an O.P.A. meat industry advisory committee set last month in announcing that it would file a decontrol petition under terms of the new O.P.A. Act.

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson has virtually committed himself to rejecting the petition. The next step would be an appeal to the independent decontrol board.

Aides of Anderson reported meanwhile that the secretary is awaiting White House reaction to the proposals he discussed with President Truman last week for putting meat back on the nation's dinner tables.

These officials declined to discuss the proposals except to state that seizure of livestock on farms is not being considered.

The subject of federal seizure action in another direction was raised, however, by Senator Green (D-R.I.) who told reporters he thinks the government should take over any excess stocks of meat found in packers' warehouses.

Green also said the Justice Department should investigate whether there is a conspiracy to withhold meat from consumer trade channels.

"There are reports that packers and cattle feeders are striking, hoping to break O.P.A.," the senator asserted. "I don't think they ought to be allowed to strike."

Other Developments

Elsewhere on the meat and food front there were these other developments:

The government said the continuing transportation crisis will interfere with the movement of food and other farm products next year. No shortage of livestock cars was predicted, however.

Mr. Truman said this country will always be able to feed itself, as well as others. The Chief Executive made no reference to the current meat situation, however, in his brief talk with state representatives of the Agriculture Department's production marketing administration.

There has been widespread interest in the impending meat decontrol petition.

Under the new price law, an industry advisory committee may petition for decontrol, although the secretary has said that any such petition must be based on the ground that supplies are sufficient to meet requirements.

Four Start Hike Into Lololand to Inspect Wreckage

Three Bodies Removed From B-29; General Feels Sure No Craft Fell During War

Sichang, China, Oct. 8 (AP)—Four men, including a missionary and two assistants, began today a four-day trek to inspect the wreckage of a long-lost B-29 from which three bodies have been recovered, and in which they hope to find clues to possible survivors.

Five Americans have reportedly been captives of Lolo tribesmen in this sector of wild west China since their big bombers crashed on wartime ferry trips from India. Colonel Wurtzler will seek to determine whether there were more men aboard the wrecked plane than the three whose bodies were found.

The wreckage was discovered some 75 air miles southwest of Sichang, Gen. Ho Kow-Kwang, Chinese army commander here, meanwhile sent a runner to the distant Lolo village of Mouli in the same general area, near Yenyan, to check unconfirmed reports there were American captives there. He said he was "90 per cent sure," however, that no American planes crashed there during the war.

It will take a month for his runner to investigate and return to Sichang, the general said. General Ho also is seeking sure.

Roosevelt-Rogers Team Are Democrat Hopefuls

By JACK BELL
A.P. Political Reporter

Los Angeles, Oct. 8 (AP)—There's a Roosevelt on the stump in California and the state's Democrats hoped today to combine the potent political name with that of Will Rogers, Jr. into a November 5 victory in hard-fought Senate and House races.

The Roosevelt is James, balding, rangy 38-year-old eldest son of the late president.

As Democratic state chairman he has teamed with Rogers, son of the late humorist, in a tussle not only to win an election but to rejuvenate and control a Democratic Party that suffered a smashing defeat when Republican Gov. Earl Warren won both major party primary nominations to succeed himself.

The two young men, with a mission that admittedly looks as much toward 1948 and thereafter as to next month's test at the polls, have thrown their well-known names into a battle with Senator William F. Knowland, youthful Republican, for the seat which the latter has filled by Warren's appointment.

Both sides say the race is a close one with Roosevelt and Rogers trying to turn the victory trick with a caravan campaign that has taken them into every corner of this expansive state and Knowland battling vigorously in a stump tour that hasn't missed a way station.

Rogers told the Democratic State Convention, when he virually forced Roosevelt's election as chairman, that F.D.R.'s son is "a political nugget for us." There are some indications that the more conservative faction of the party wasn't so sure about that.

The Democratic senatorial nominee told this reporter he himself is "a middle of the road" and scoffed at Republican charges that Roosevelt bore a leftist tinge because of his former connection as an official of the Independent Citizens Committee for the Arts, Sciences and Professions.

Roosevelt said in a separate interview that the Republicans are falsely trying to link him with the Communists, who represent a vocal, if not politically strong, element in the state's population.

Two Parties United on War Trials

Dewey, Ives and Lehman Also Mead Hold Nazis Accountable in Loss of Many Lives

Taft Blasted

Politicos See Nuernberg Decisions as Warning to All Aggressors

By HENRY LEADER

New York, Oct. 8 (AP)—The top men on the New York Republican and Democratic tickets were united today on at least one issue—defense of the Nuernberg verdicts sentencing 12 Nazi chieftains to death as war criminals.

The stands on the question brought two potential rivals for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Senator Robert A. Taft, into open conflict, with the former taking direct issue with the Ohio senator's assertion that the trials "would be a blot on the American record that we shall long regret."

"The defendants at Nuernberg had a fair and extensive trial," Dewey said in a statement in which he was joined by Assembly Majority Leader Irving M. Ives, Republican candidate for U. S. senator from New York.

no one can have any sympathy for these Nazi leaders who brought such agony upon the world," Dewey and Ives declared. They added:

Serves as Warning

"While the just penalties imposed can neither expiate their sins nor bring back to life the millions for whose deaths they are responsible, their sentences will serve as a warning against future acts of aggression and oppression by totalitarian rulers."

The statement was issued at the Republican state campaign headquarters shortly before Dewey made a statewide broadcast in which he appealed for re-election and victory for the entire Republican ticket November 5.

Democratic leaders, too, blasted Taft's condemnation of the Nuernberg trials.

"If we cannot punish these aggressors, then how in the name of heaven can we stop this cruel thing?" Senator James M. Mead, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, said at a rally last night of the American Labor Party.

State Labor Board Sets October 16 As Hearing Date

Stuyvesant-Union Dispute Will Be Aired; Must Go on Unless by Board Consent

The New York State Labor Board has set October 16 as the date for the formal hearing in the union dispute between the Hotel and Bartenders Union, Local 666, and the Stuyvesant Hotel, according to papers served on both parties today.

The communication setting the date was signed by the Rev. William J. Kelley, a member of the Common Council.

The signal is positioned on top of the present Stop and Go signal at the street intersection. When the Stop and Go signal flashes red, halting traffic proceeding up Albany avenue, the arrow in the new device flashes green, pointing to the right.

There are two lanes of traffic on Albany avenue approaching the signal. Traffic in the lane nearest the curb turns right into Clinton avenue, while traffic in adjoining lane nearest the center of the road proceeds over Pearl street.

The green arrow directs traffic in the lane nearest the curb to continue turning right into Clinton avenue although the Stop and Go signal flashes red.

A similar device to be installed at Hurley and Washington avenues, had also been received by the Board of Public Works, but the lens was found broken when it was unpacked, and the signal will not be installed until a new lens is received.

Chevrolet and Ford Stage Production Race in Detroit

Detroit, Oct. 8 (AP)—The production race between Chevrolet and Ford apparently is underway and if both can continue to get supplies, may aid materially in bolstering an otherwise lagging output of the nation's automobile industry.

There are some among the industry's experts who profess to see the curtailment of the Chrysler program, announced last week because of near-exhaustion of its supply of body steel, as providing some comfort for other car manufacturers. This viewpoint was based upon the reasoning that the Chrysler cutback would relieve pressure on suppliers and enable them to step up deliveries to other car makers.

According to figures compiled by the trade publication Automotive News, Chevrolet had turned out 338,630 cars and trucks since January 1 this year, while Ford's production of Ford cars and trucks over the same period has totalled 394,566.

The aggregate of the two companies represents better than 38.6 per cent of the total industry production since January 1.

Chevrolet, however, apparently is moving somewhat faster than Ford right now, last week its total car and truck output was 19,486 units, while Ford assembled 17,524.

Chevrolet probably will lose a little ground when it concludes production of the current models sometime before the year's end. Its halt for changeover to 1947 output, however, will be only a brief one, unless parts and materials shortages intervene.

Ford has indicated no model changes until "after the first of the year."

In a compilation of passenger car production alone from January 1 through September 30, this year, Automotive News credits the "Big Three" of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler with 84,235 per cent of the industry's total output of 1,344,851 vehicles.

Joe Hanley, Ives, LeFevre, Bookstein Will Be Heard at Republican Rally October 23

New Signal Is In Operation at Uptown Crossing

The new signal device to permit traffic to flow more freely at the intersection of Albany and Clinton avenues, was installed today by employees of the Board of Public Works under the direction of Superintendent Ernest A. Steuding.

The installation of the signal had been recommended by Chief of Police Ernest A. Boss, and approved and ordered installed by the Common Council.

The signal is positioned on top of the present Stop and Go signal at the street intersection. When the Stop and Go signal flashes red, halting traffic proceeding up Albany avenue, the arrow in the new device flashes green, pointing to the right.

There are two lanes of traffic on Albany avenue approaching the signal. Traffic in the lane nearest the curb turns right into Clinton avenue, while traffic in adjoining lane nearest the center of the road proceeds over Pearl street.

Candidates Will Speak on Campaign Issues at Auditorium at 7:45 P. M.

A Republican rally will be held on Wednesday evening, October 23, at 7:45 o'clock at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium at which time many of the Republican candidates will speak to discuss the political issues of the fall campaign.

Among those who will speak at the rally will be Lt. Governor Joe R. Hanley, Republican candidate for re-election; Irving M. Ives, candidate for United States senator; Congressman Jay R. LeFevre and Justice Isadore Bookstein, candidate for the Supreme Court bench in this district.

Arrangements have not been entirely completed for the first big Republican rally but these candidates will appear as well as local candidates. Senator Arthur H. Weeks, Assemblyman John F. Wadlin, District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn and Jay W. Rifenbary, candidate for county treasurer and Coroner Arthur C. Chipp will be present at the rally to speak on important issues of the campaign.

The public is invited to attend this rally and hear from the candidates facts relative to the campaign.

Two Women Knocked Down by Automobile

Two women were knocked down by an automobile driven by John W. Grabiec of 59 East Pierpont street at 7:05 o'clock this morning, but both escaped serious injury, according to a report filed by the police department.

The women were Mrs. Mabel Krom, 40, of 24 East St. James street, and Miss Mary Schick, 66, of 545 Abel street. They were crossing the street from the Central Post Office to the A. & P. store when struck.

Both were rushed to the Kingston Hospital where they were treated for minor injuries and then taken to their homes.

Mr. Grabiec, who is employed on the West Shore railroad, was on his way to work at the time of the accident.

Will Treat Germans

Berlin, Oct. 8 (AP)—The Russian military government announced today that it planned to distribute rations of cigarettes and spirits to German civilians in all four occupations sectors of Berlin during October—which is ration month here. Ordinarily such periodic rations are promised only to residents of the Russian sector of the city.

Old Hulks Would Be Taken Away

Public Response Would Be Motivating Factor in Project Under U. S. Supervision

Groups Are Busy

Local Organizations Ask Public Support of Big Undertaking

Action on clearing and improving the Rondout harbor, long regarded as a major post-war project for Kingston will be started on November 7, when representatives of the War Department's Corps of Engineers will conduct a public hearing on the matter at the Ulster county court house.

Ambrose F. Brennan, chief engineer of the Albany district, said the purpose of the meeting would be to assemble data and sound out public sentiment for the project.

Mr. Brennan stated that all interested parties including boat yard officials, operators of oil companies with dock facilities on the Rondout, Chamber of Commerce and public officials would be invited to attend the hearing.

The Albany office of the Corps of Engineers said that consumption of the project would depend on public response to the hearing.

available through the Rivers and Harbors Act passed by Congress in July, 1916.

To Transmit Data

All data collected at the Kingston hearing would be transmitted to the New York district office in New York with formal action to be started by that organization.

Invitations will be extended to the following organizations and citizens: R. Lenahan Co., Reliance Marine Transportation and Construction Company; Callanan Road Improvement Co.; Rondout Shipyard Corp.; Cornett Steamboat Company; Texas Oil Co.; Ulster Districting Co.; Colonial Beacon Oil Co.; Hiltbrand Dry Dock Co.; and Dwyer Lighterage Corporation.

Representing various organizations and the city and county will be Mayor William F. Edmuth of Kingston, Sheriff George C. Smith of Ulster county; Donald F. Williams, secretary of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce; John D. Schoonmaker, James Dwyer, James F. Loughran, Stewart Randall, Raymond Garrahan, Herman Gottfried, Harry Tilghy and Edward E. Murray, chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors.

Delayed by War

The Rondout harbor project has been under consideration for several years but action was delayed because of the war. Early this year the Corps of Engineers sent a representative to Rondout to make a preliminary survey of conditions and then decided to crystallize action through a public hearing.

Mr. Brennan, the Albany district engineer, said the Corps of Engineers has mapped no plans for the project. Its scope will depend entirely upon public response to the open hearing on November 7.

The November 7 meeting also is expected to result in the organization of a local group that will conduct negotiations with the War Department for successful completion of the project.

Has Been Long Sought

Residents and boat company officials of the Rondout area have for years expressed a desire to have the harbor dredged and cleaned up. The battered hulks of old tugboats, barges and other craft have been rotting in the harbor for several years. They form an ugly eyesore for the section and public desire for their removal is expected to be emphatically expressed at the hearing.

Mr. Brennan, who inspected the harbor last week, said he could give no official estimate of the cost of dredging and improving the waterfront. The War Department representative indicated, however, that in his opinion the Corps of Engineers would do a thorough job that would include dredging, reinforcing of the docks and clearing of all old boats and barges from the area.

Want Newspaper Freed

Washington, Oct. 8 (AP)—Ten newspaper executives today asked O.P.A. Administrator Paul Porter to remove price ceilings from newspaper.

The executives said that the O.P.A. price controls on newspaper circulation were "unjustified and unreasonable" and that they were "a burden on the public."

Po'keepsie Man's Case Adjourned

Junior Leaguer Charges Ex-Convict Tried to Abduct Her

Poughkeepsie had a minor kidnapping scare about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon but alert thinking by a 26-year-old Junior League member foiled a World War 2 veteran and ex-convict and started the wheels of justice winging him back to prison.

Miss Jane Lawrence, 26, daughter of Clinton K. Lawrence told Poughkeepsie police that she was driving her car down Main street when the kidnapping attempt occurred. As she crossed the intersection of Patsy Delino, 33, of Poughkeepsie, slid into the front seat and ordered her to drive where he directed if she wanted to live.

Miss Lawrence told police she drove about three blocks before encountering a red light. When the car stopped for the light, she opened the door and jumped from the car and raced across the street to the curb where Detective William Owens was standing. Miss Lawrence said she did not know whether Delino was armed. Delino thoroughly rattled by Miss Lawrence's action, fled in confusion from the other side of the car and ran into an apartment house. Detective Owens gave chase and found him after a short search.

New Broadway Play Has Ulster Angle

A journey leading character is Sojourner Truth, a Negro slave who was born in Ulster county, is contemplated for the present theatrical season in New York. Entitled "I Talked With God" it was written by Anne Mercer and the action takes place in Ulster county in 1827 and concerns the smuggling of Negro children into the south at the time when all slaves in New York were to have obtained their freedom. The cast requires five white and 17 Negro players.

Although the producing auspices have not been determined, Eddie Dowling has promised to direct. Ethel Waters is reported interested in playing the lead.

Farm Bureau's '47 Program Outlined

Plans for the 1947 Ulster County Farm Bureau program were outlined at a dinner meeting attended by the Board of Directors and community chairmen last night at the Stuyvesant Hotel.

Twenty-five officials of the county farm organization heard D. Leo Hayes, assistant state county agent leader, make a strong appeal for sound planning and programs for the post-war farming period.

Community meetings for each of the 18 farm districts of the county were set and plans also were completed for the annual membership campaign.

Albert Kurdt, president of the Farm Bureau, presided at the meeting.

Diphtheria Clinic

High Falls, Oct. 8.—A diphtheria immunization clinic will be held in High Falls at the school on October 14 at 10 a. m. Dr. Edward Shea, health officer of the town of Marletown, will be in charge, assisted by Mrs. Hilda Coddington, public health nurse, and members of the lay nursing committee. This clinic is for any children who reside in the town of Marletown, between the ages of six months and eight years. If a child has had the inoculations when a baby, it is considered desirable that they be given once more before it is eight years old. Anyone wishing further information may inquire at the postoffice or at the school in High Falls, where pamphlets are available, explaining the necessity of inoculations.

Additional Pickets

Basel Rose, president of Local 56, Metal Polishers Union, A.F.L., speaking at Ellenville this morning stated that Middletown union members were expected to appear in Ellenville this afternoon to augment the present picket line which is on duty at the knife works where a strike is now in its eighth week. Mr. Rose said it was expected that two carloads of pickets would arrive to join the picket line.

Sentence Suspended

Edwin Delavan, 26, of Abeel street, was arrested last night by John Longendyke at 567 Albany avenue, on a charge of disorderly conduct, and turned over to the police. Delavan was charged with breaking kitchen utensils and using vile language in the Albany avenue house. Today in police court he was sentenced to 60 days in jail, but serving of the sentence was suspended, provided he behaves himself in the future.

State Police Go To N. Y. on Lead

Slaughter of Cow Is Being Investigated by Troopers

Investigating the slaughtering of a cow on the Ruppert Eisguber farm near Elting's Corners, town of Lloyd, Saturday has led the investigators to New York where a check is being made. Members of the State Police B.C.I. unit at Highland were following clues Monday when the lead directed them to New York.

Mr. Eisguber had gone to a pasture to water stock when he found one of his cows missing. Crossing the road after a search of the pasture did not reveal the missing animal, he came on a car and some men in a secluded spot working over the carcass of a cow. When his presence was detected the men fled to the woods, abandoning the car. The car was seized and a search was begun for the men. Today it was stated there were no further details, except that a clue had led the investigators to the metropolitan area.

Old K. A. Tablet To Be Installed In Academy Park

For a number of years the old marble tablet that hung on the walls of old Kingston Academy before that building was taken down, has lain in the Senate House yard on Clinton avenue.

Today Superintendent Ernest A. Steuding had a crew of men busy hoisting the marble tablet onto a truck, when it was conveyed to Academy Park, the site of the historic old school.

Here the tablet will be re-erected on a concrete base that has been built in the park, and will remain as a permanent memorial to the historic old academy. The tablet is about two inches thick, four feet wide and six feet long. Inscribed on it are the names of the architect of the old academy and the board of trustees. Kingston Academy was torn down when Kingston High School was built and placed in operation, and the site on which the ancient school stood was turned into a public park.

$30,000 Is Collected

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 8 (AP)—The State Tax Commission reported today receipt of $30,000 from the estate of President Franklin D. Roosevelt in payment of New York State taxes. A commission spokesman who confirmed receipt of the check said the payment would stand as the final tax pending an audit of the tax order filed by the Dutchess county surrogate with the commission.

Reports Accident

Edward Rigney of Route 1, Catskill, reported to the police Monday afternoon that at 4 o'clock while driving a truck over East Chester street, a boy named Emmick of 56 Grant street, rode his bicycle out of Lincoln street and into the rear of the truck. Mr. Rigney reported that the boy was unhurt, but the front wheel of the bicycle was damaged.

Ninety per cent of all home fires are preventable.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 8 (AP)—Steels and assorted rails led a selective recovery sortie in today's stock market without generating any real stamina.

Dealings turned sluggish after a fairly active opening. Gains of fractions to 3 points were well distributed near the fourth hour although scattered losers persisted.

Commission men credited a certain amount of bidding to the belief the list was due for a technical revival in the wake of four straight declining sessions. Selling to establish tax losses, it was observed, still was a restraining influence in addition to offerings by skeptics who felt that the market had yet to reach its low. The better mill operating schedule aided steels. Hopes for freight rate increases propped carriers.

Protruding on the quiet comeback were Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, Republic Steel, Montgomery Ward, Chrysler, Woolworth, Public Service of N. J., American Woolen, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Union Pacific, and American Smelting. Philip Morris, American tobacco "B" and Reynolds Tobacco "B" pushed up in further response to the cigarette price lift. S. S. Kresge Common stiffened on an extra dividend.

Bonds were uneven. Cotton futures strengthened on the lower government crop figures.

Alcoholics Group Celebrates Its 5th Anniversary at 'Y'

Assemblage of 90 Hears Various Speakers Tell About Overcoming Drink Habit

Alcoholics Anonymous observed its fifth anniversary in Kingston at a dinner meeting in the Y.M.C.A. Monday night attended by 90 members of the local organization and 60 guests from the Hudson valley and other regions of the state.

After a chicken dinner, various speakers told of their experiences in fighting alcoholism the A. A. way, a method that is nationwide in scope, and a means of salvation to many.

In attendance were men and women from Kingston, Poughkeepsie, Peekskill, Newburgh, Middletown, Albany, New York city and Hudson, where a group was formed only last week. Several observers, non-alcoholics, were guests to learn about the A. A.

New York Affair

Announcement was made about an anniversary scheduled for November 7 at the Hotel Commodore in New York city for former alcoholics from communities spread out throughout the east. Several Kingston people will be among the 1,700 in attendance, that many reservations having been made.

Among the membership of the Kingston group are professional men and women, who after admitting they were alcoholics, have "found themselves" and are resuming normal lives. Members of A. A. must realize that they can never drink safely.

One of the speakers, all of whom remained anonymous, was "Betty" from Saratoga, who started drinking at the age of 16 and was an alcoholic when she was graduated from high school.

Institutions No Help

She told about having been committed to the Utica State Hospital when she was 21, after spending time in numerous private hospitals, but to no avail.

Then a turn in her life came after a visit to a Glens Falls Anonymous Group. Through the aid and guidance of its members she became "dry" and remained so.

"Betty's" story retraced days of habitual drinking in any low place where she could buy or have drinks bought for her and experience that sent her to hospitals 19 times in one year.

A.A. Way Saves Her

Since joining A.A. she has been on a "24-hour basis" pledging to refrain from drinking for the immediate 24-hour period. But, each 24 hours A. A. way provides her with aid and encouragement from other members to overcome her craving for alcohol.

"Betty" said she gives thanks each morning for the courage to refrain from drink and asks for power each night to continue living a normal life.

Kingstonian's Recovery

A "dry" from the Kingston group who had been an excessive drinker for 10 years told of having to "crawl" home to his family, disgracing them and reaching a condition that impaired his power to think straight.

"I was a physical and mental mess and could no longer carry on a conversation, for it takes thought to talk," he said. This speaker was on a "24-hour basis," he advised, and added that he came to realize he "did not take a drink. By taking an interest in others, he is 'coming back'."

Started As Social Drinker

"Harold" of New York was the last speaker. A man who had been influential in banking circles, a professional man with splendid jobs, he told of having started as a social drinker at the age of 31 and his path towards becoming an alcoholic. He lost his family and friends.

"Sixty-five per cent of the alcoholics approach drinking from the happy angle because they like friends and conversation," he said. Alcoholics do not handle alcoholic drink like normal people, he advised, and the only safe way is to refrain from taking a single drink. When he failed to get relief from numerous institutions, visits to the best psychologists in the United States and Europe, including an internationally famous one in Switzerland, "Harold" finally turned to A.A.

With the help he has received he is leading a normal life, and has been for a long time.

Kills Brain Power

According to him, drinking to an alcoholic simply kills the brain power and prevents the drinker from thinking at all.

"We just can't drink at all. Alcohol to us is entirely different from its effect on a normal person," he said. He added that "alcoholism is not a moral character weakness, but a disease from which an alcoholic cannot turn half way and resume normal drinking. One must be a total abstainer."

The first step for any alcoholic is to regain the religious concept of life, "love thy neighbor as thyself" it was brought out by the speaker. On this principle comes a rebirth of love in life and for life. It is the reward for "unconscious good deeds" such as advocated by A.A. to fellow alcoholics, which is one of the foundations of the success in Alcoholics Anonymous.

Meetings of the Kingston Group are held at the Y.M.C.A. every Monday evening. Contact with the organization may be had by writing to P. O. Box 612, uptown station.

Mrs. Katz was born in Germany the daughter of the late Isaac and Lina Orschel Geis. She is survived by one son, Martin, of Gardiner; three grandchildren, two sisters and one brother, all of New York city. Funeral services were held this morning at 10:30 o'clock from the V. T. Pine & Son Funeral Home in New Paltz. Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom of Kingston officiated. Burial was in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

Franz von Papan May Be Tried on Treason Charge

Nuernberg, Germany, Oct. 8 (AP)—The German Council of States announced today in Stuttgart that Franz von Papan would be tried for high treason if the Allied Control Council permitted restoration of Germany's old treason laws.

The possibility of the former diplomat, acquitted a week ago by the International Military Tribunal on war crimes counts, facing a treason trial was conditioned also on his remaining in the American occupation zone and on whether a "high German court has to be created with authority to deal with such cases," said Dr. Reinhold Meier, minister president of Wuertemberg-Baden, one of the three states under U. S. control.

Meier said German officials in the British zone concurred in the plan. He added, however, that the Allied Control Council had abolished the German treason laws under which von Papan could be prosecuted.

Wreckage Is Found

Singapore, Oct. 7 (Delayed) (AP)—The wreckage of an R.A.F. York flying boat which carried 15 service passengers and six crew, was discovered in the sea north of Penang yesterday, headquarters of the British Air Command for southeast Asia announced today.

Hollis Quick Arrested

Hollis Quick, 37, of Lucas avenue, was arrested Monday by Sergeant Schoonmaker of the New York Central railroad police force, who charged Quick with petty larceny in the theft of a case of ravioli with meat sauce, valued at $3.60. This morning in police court Quick was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail.

Hurley Supper

The annual turkey supper will be served at the Hurley Reformed Church Wednesday evening. Reservations may still be made for the 5:30 and 7 p. m. tables by phoning either 43-W-2 or 286-W-1.

Union Center Card Party

The Ladies Aid Society of the Union Center Church will give a card party at the chapel October 10 at 8:30 p. m.

"Mr. Chad" Travels

British soldiers amuse themselves by drawing pictures of a curious little character of their own, "Mr. Chad," who peeps over a wall and inquires: "Wot, no dried eggs?" or whatever the slogan of the day may be. Now he has penetrated as far as Austria, Vienna reports. Railway travelers see him on trucks and cars coming from the British zone, asking: "Wot—no Fuehrer?"

FINAL REGISTRATION DAYS

Friday and Saturday of this week will be the last two days of registration in this city. The polls will be open on Friday from 10 o'clock in the morning until 10 in the evening. On Saturday, the polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m.

These registration days are as important as election day. On these days each one of us must establish the right to vote by positive, affirmative action, either by registering personally, or by verifying existing registration where personal registration is not required.

No American citizen should need persuasion to exercise his right of franchise. A large vote does not necessarily guarantee a wise one, but it approaches a true expression of the will of the majority. The fundamental obligation of every citizen to register and vote, regardless of his political affiliations, is the essential feature of good government under our democracy. Participation of all citizens in their government is the ideal of democracy, which can work only when the electorate is alert, interested and prompt to do its part on election day.

If you do not register this week and do not vote in the important election in November, you forfeit your right to talk about the decision rendered.

And last but not least, if we are to keep the American system of government intact, we must continue to show our appreciation of one of its greatest privileges.

Without being registered no one can vote. Plan to do it this week.

INDUSTRIAL OUTPUT HAMPERED

Anyone who doubts that fire is a serious threat to present and future output of American industry would change his opinion if copies of all our newspapers for any one day were paraded before him, declares Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, who is directing the observance here of Fire Prevention Week.

Reading the fire items would make a person realize that fire is actually affecting American industrial progress and future prosperity, for the material in the buildings destroyed by fire is permanently removed from the economic resources of the nation. No nation can afford to waste vast quantities of its resources and 10,000 lives annually. Such a drain may eventually influence working and living conditions throughout the country.

Chief Murphy indicates that citizens in every walk of life can aid America's effort to reduce fire waste now increasing so rapidly. Everyone should consider it a personal problem, for it involves the protection of family and business interests as well as the broader problems of national welfare. It is the duty of all citizens to protect life and property by acquainting themselves with the common fire hazards found in most homes and places of business and then making a definite effort to put their information to work.

This is Fire Prevention Week and the chief asks the head of each household to do everything in his power to protect his family from the possibility of fire bringing danger and injury, or even death, into his home.

Conventional people are annoying to go-getters, but they help to keep the world steady.

HOW TO BUY VOTES

The Wheeler primary hearings, it is true, deal with a fight that is over. Senator Wheeler has been defeated and that is that.

But hearings by the Senatorial Committee into the Montana primaries, inadequate as they are because Senator Ellender suppressed them, form a pattern of political activity in the United States. What was done in Montana is being done everywhere else in one form or another. The difference is that, with regard to the Montana campaign, we have the sworn testimony of many of the parties involved in it; we have a record of bank deposits, of receipts and expenditures, of telegrams sent and received. We have proved data. In other places, we are still limited to gossip.

For instance, the Smith Connally Act forbids labor unions to contribute to political campaigns involving candidates for Federal office. The question arises whether a primary is a political campaign. The unions and the C.I.O.-P.A.C. generally hold that they are permitted to contribute to primary campaigns. The law concerning primaries, it seems, is ambiguous, but the intent of those who drafted it was clear. Their intention was to inhibit, if not wholly to prevent, labor unions from contributing to politicians in the pursuit of office, just as corporations are forbidden to make such contributions.

In the Wheeler primary, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (contributed to Leif Erickson, $1,000; the United Automobile, Aircraft, Agricultural, Implement Workers, 411 West Milwaukee Avenue, Detroit, Mich., contributed $1,500. Their contributions were direct and the checks were signed by union officers.

When Walter J. Nilan, Mr. Erickson's treasurer, was asked by Robert B. Barker, Counsel to the Senate Investigating Committee, whether he was acquainted with the Smith-Connally Act, he replied:

"Not the Smith-Connally Act. I don't think I ever read it."

"Q. Have you sought or received any legal advice as to the effect of a direct contribution from the treasurer of a Labor Union?"

"A. Senator Ellender sent out two pamphlets. One in regard to any elections and the other in regard to general elections but it didn't apply to primaries. He sent those two pamphlets out."

"Q. That Section 9 of the Smith-Connally Act does not apply to a Primary?"

Of course, the answer is that neither the Smith-Connally Act nor the earlier Federal Corrupt Practices Act really does what they are meant to do, which is to safeguard elected public officials from money coercion by either labor unions or corporations. The Corrupt Practices Act definitely excludes primaries. The Smith-Connally Act is not so clear. Unless the Smith-Connally Act is construed as retaining the definitions of the price Corrupt Practices Acts, it could be assumed, without stretching the law too widely by interpretation, that it does apply to elections involving Senators and members of the House of Representatives—even primary elections.

In fact, certain other questions might be raised in this Montana case. Mr. Nilan gives $12,800 as the collection for Leif Erickson's primary fight; Mr. Barker put it at $11,000. Whichever figure is correct, how does it happen that in a campaign in Montana, $4,250 came from New York and Chicago offices of the Committee on Public Affairs, Arthur J. Goldsmith, Secretary, $1,000 from the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and $1,500 from the Automobile union already cited—making a total of $6,750 from these three sources outside the state? This does not include other contributions from New York of sizeable dimensions. Is New York and its allies in Chicago, Detroit and Hollywood buying the Congressional elections?

In the American theory of representative government, a Senator or a Representative speaks for his own constituency. He does not represent the United States of America but his state and district. This theory has been firmly established. Americans heretofore have resented and resisted outside interference in local elections. There have even been instances when the President of the United States spoke for or against a candidate and the people resented his presumptions.

But in this campaign we have evidence that groups in New York, Chicago, Detroit, and Hollywood set themselves up to finance the election of Senatorial candidates in all parts of the country. From the standpoint of American government, this is all wrong.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

A large work in medicine, over 20 years old, lists over one hundred methods of stopping an attack of hiccup some of which must be applied by the physician but most of which can be applied by the individual himself. As to the causes any one or more of which can cause the contraction of the diaphragm (floor of chest) and of throat muscles, they likewise are very numerous.

The home remedies for hiccup which help some cases and fail in others are: tickling the back of throat; swallowing ice, salt, lemon juice, vinegar, strong liquor, holding the breath a minute or two; pulling out the tongue and holding it out for several minutes; holding head backward to close the outer canal of ear; drinking slowly while holding the nose; closing fists tightly; deep rapid inhalations of air into lungs; hanging with arms extended from a beam or pole; pressing in the eyeballs; holding lying down; washing out the stomach; injections of soap suds into the rectum; any drink that fizzes (carbon dioxide); lighting a weight; lying face downwards.

In severe cases where a prolonged attack of hiccup may endanger life patient is removed to hospital and various measures such as inhalation of oxygen and injections of procaine into the muscles may be used.

In the Kentucky Medical Journal Dr. M. Casper states that severe attacks of hiccup are controlled by injecting the fourth cervical nerve (which controls the tensed muscles) causing the spasm with procaine (novocain solution).

A simple method available anywhere is pressure in the supra orbital notch (upper inner corner of the eye socket). Each thumb is placed under the patient's orbital ridge above spot where glasses clamp bridge of nose, and firm pressure is made upward. This method was demonstrated by Superintendent Fraser, Buffalo General Hospital.

In a severe attack of hiccup where home treatment fails, call in your physician in case of the bladder, uterus, stomach, pleurisy, pneumonia, may be present.

"At Century's Turn"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

In August, 1902, plans for the construction of the sanitarium of Our Lady of Victory—now known as the Benedictine Hospital—were on file at the office of Architect Myron S. Teller, where they could be examined by contractors who intended to submit bids on constructing the building.

An old clipping from The Freeman of August 21, of that year, said the sanitarium would occupy a knoll near the head of Andrew street, and would be a modern three-story brick building.

The building would command, it was said, a magnificent view of the Catskills.

In October, 1902, the Mohican Company leased the store that for years housed the old James O. Merritt & Co. department store on Wall street, and was having the interior remodeled as a large market.

As I recall it the Mohican's first store in Kingston was that in the Merritt building on Wall street, where it remained until the big fire several years later, that wiped out the store and badly damaged the entire building.

The Mohican then moved further south on Wall street, a few doors from the present Whelan drug store at Wall and John streets, where the company continued in business until the present store building on John street was erected and occupied by the company.

Major Wilbur H. Weston died on September 27, 1902, in his home in Newburgh. For years he was prominently identified with the railroads and other enterprises, and in 1899 he organized the Central Hudson Steamboat Co.

This company for many years operated a fleet of steamers between Albany and New York. The Kingston port for the fleet was the Rondout creek. The company had a large warehouse on Ferry street, which stood for a number of years until it was demolished.

The local office of the steamboat company was also located on Ferry street. The big steamers carried considerable quantities of freight to the New York market from this city.

One of its biggest steamers was the Benjamin B. Odell.

If memory serves me right the Central Hudson Line succeeded the Romer & Tremper Steamboat Co.

The Central Hudson Line was active in the years before the first World War, and I recall that one of the last steamers added to the fleet was the Poughkeepsie.

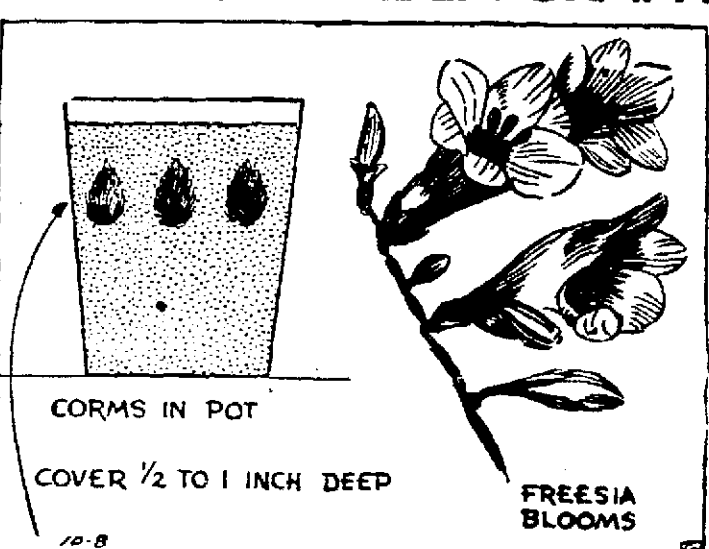

The early years at the turn of the century were the years of the flashlight era, when it was the custom when a party was held in a private house to have a flashlight picture taken of the group.

Stowed away among my relics are a number of these flashlight pictures, and it is interesting to see the changes in the clothes worn by the girls of yesterday as compared with the apparel of today.

The photographer who took the flashlight picture would take orders from those at the party, and the larger the party the more pictures were sold. I believe we used to pay 25 cents apiece for a flashlight group picture.

Three pedigreed bulls spent a night in a hotel at Windhook, Southwest Africa. An ex-serviceman farmer received the bulls from Cape Town but could not move them to his farm the same day. He took them to his hotel, where he had an outside room, opening into the yard. Clearing the furniture from the room he put in some straw and made his bulls comfortable for the night while he slept outside. Next day he left for his farm.

TODAY'S GARDEN GRAPH

For Fragrance Grow Freesias

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Association

THIS is the best time of year to pot freesia bulbs because the longer they can be left outdoors the better the blooms will be later on after they have been brought indoors. Growing freesias for their fragrance as well as beauty indoors is simple enough if you follow instructions.

Freesia bulbs are forced differently than other bulbs. They do not need to be put in the dark during the root forming period after being potted. Also the green leaves and roots grow at the same time. After the bulbs are potted they should be placed outdoors in a shady place and left there until cold weather threatens.

Place three to six bulbs, two inches apart and 1/2 to 1 inch deep, in a hole pan or 5-inch pot as illustrated in the accompanying Garden Graph. Use a sandy loam for potting into which some bonemeal or plant food has been mixed. Set the pots outside in a shady spot. Water when necessary.

Leave the bulbs outdoors until frost is expected. When they are brought indoors, place the pots where they will get light from a window, either in an unheated attic or a cool basement. Freesias must never be subjected to freezing temperatures.

Feeding the growing plants with weak liquid fertilizer will result in stronger blooms. When the plants are ready to bloom, they can be placed where they will get some sunshine.

Freesia are a "cool" growing plant. If grown in a room that is too hot the foliage becomes weak and spindly and the blooms will not be at their best. Freesias must also be staked as they develop.

After the blooms fade, allow the foliage to ripen in a cool place out of the sun. Then store the bulbs in a dry place.

Price Tag Rules May Affect 'Brand Names'

Washington, Oct. 8 (AP)—O.P.A. changed some of its price tag rules today to end what one official called "chiseling by some retailers."

Involved are many so-called "brand names" items such as clothing, shoes, furniture, rugs and shower curtains. Usually well-advertised and sold on a uniform price basis, the retail price ceiling tag has been placed on them by the manufacturer and producer.

Previously when this ceiling price advanced, O.P.A. allowed the retailer to re-tick his entire stock at the new higher prices.

This must stop October 14, O.P.A. announced, so that sales are made on a basis of actual cost at the time of shipment—plus the legal profit margin at that time.

The result may be that some retailers will be offering identical "brand names" at different ceilings prices.

Autopsy Fails to Show Cause of Girl's Death

Inwood, N. Y., Oct. 8 (AP)—Twenty-one year old Angela Rose De Fabrizio was buried Thursday in the same wedding gown and veil she was wearing Sunday when she collapsed and died as she walked up the aisle of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church to be married.

And the flowers will include the crushed bouquet she was carrying. The girl died while her intended bridegroom, John Mastunantonio, 20-year-old Army Medical Corps veteran and her childhood sweetheart, waited in the rear of the church unaware of the tragedy.

An autopsy failed yesterday to disclose the cause of death. Dr. Allan Jaques, deputy medical examiner of Nassau county, said: "I found a general congestion of the viscera with what appears to be an early acute congestion of the upper respiratory passages. Before a cause of death can be ascribed it will be necessary to obtain a report of bacteriological and toxicological studies of the viscera."

Problems on Wages and Prices Will Have to Be Met Sooner or Later by Leaders

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 8.—The strategy of labor union leaders in arguing that wage increases must be made because of the rise in the cost of living may turn out to be short-sighted, for there is a real prospect that next year living costs will turn down somewhat and logically this should then lead to a reduction in wages.

The theory that wages must go up when the cost of living rises means that wages must come down when the curve goes the other way. But any union leader who conceded that truism would find himself out of office in his union.

Yet this same problem will have to be faced by many a labor leader because sooner or later in many businesses there will be no economic justification for continued increases in wages. During the war period, the wage stabilization policy, and since the war labor leaders have educated their members to believe that each year there must be a tangible increase in wages. This has been one of the main reasons why contracts have been limited in numerous cases to one year. There have been in some instances provisions for reopening wage scales on 30 days' notice.

One of the chief reasons for the present unbalanced economy is the fact that business men cannot look ahead and plan on any stabilized costs. Hence they cannot make plans for reduction of prices, because they do not know what their labor costs will be in any given period beyond one year. Their costs of materials are subject to constant change.

The best way to achieve a distribution of purchasing power in America would be through a reduction in the price level without changing money wages. If money will buy more next year than it does this year the workers of the country will be getting the equivalent of a wage increase. If their labor leaders are wise, they will be content to let the wage scales rest awhile until business can adjust itself to new price levels and an increased output per man.

There are some signs that labor leaders here and there recognize the importance of increasing output per man. This in itself would bring greater efficiency and perhaps permit adjustments downward in the price level.

Unfortunately, however, labor leaders are in too many cases afraid of their followers. Unless they ask for increases in wages, they are apprehensive lest some rival candidate makes that his platform and turns the incumbent officers out of power. Where the officers have control of the situation, on the other hand, and where they see that the wage increase cycle is about run its course, there will be a tendency to urge the establishment of welfare funds. Presumably these improvements will increase the employer's expense somewhat but probably not to the extent of the wage increase which heretofore have added appreciably to the nation's cost of doing business.

Wage levels in some businesses and industries were not affected materially during the war and in these cases adjustments have been insisted upon in the post-war period. For the most part the nation will have seen the major part of its labor bill increase this year, and next year employers will have to find a way to absorb these costs at their present or advanced prices.

When volume begins to drop off the seller will try the method of reducing prices in the hope of increasing volume but this does not work out in many lines and is better adapted to consumer business. As a consequence the unbalanced situation will continue.

To the extent that the imbalance has already damaged many small businesses and has cut the earnings of large businesses, a readjustment is already under way. It is in fact a "recession" and the reason it isn't called a "depression" is because the consumer lines which have been trying to satisfy the pent-up demand have been absorbing many of those who might otherwise have been unemployed.

The crisis will come when most of the G.I.'s now in school or college or in training begin looking for jobs. Ordinarily small businesses absorb quite a large number of new workers. If there are not jobs enough for all of them, the recession may become a depression. Plainly there will have to be a re-examination by labor leaders of the whole 1941 economic picture and a new strategy developed, or else the "recession" will rapidly turn into a depression.

It is because some folks are betting that the labor leaders will not see the light that business really breaks down and the so-called "bust" is no longer a prediction but a reality that the pessimists have had the better of it in recent weeks in the stock market.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By JAMES DEVLIN

(For Hal Boyle)

Essen, Germany (AP)—The show-place home of the Krupp family stands undamaged only a few miles from the bomb-blasted Krupp munitions works and the shattered homes of the steel workers and coal miners.

A four-story, gray stone building surrounded by green acres—like a city hall in the middle of Central Park—it is known simply as Villa Hugel, the "house on the hill."

Once occupied by nine Krupps, mother, father and seven children, the vast domestic servile now as an office for almost 500 workers of the British-operated North German Coal Control, in charge of Ruhr coal production.

The Krupps have left, but there are many traces of the majestic scale on which the family lived. Their dining room table measures 60 feet from end to end, and they had single piece tablecloths long enough to cover it.

Now, with a number of over-tapping cloths to cover the table, 120 British military government officers eat there with members of a French coal commission.

The table by no means occupies all the space in the room and has been moved a bit to one side to permit the addition of eight or ten smaller tables for four.

Library Is Big One
To the rear of the dining room, and overlooking a grotto or walled garden with fountains is a library with 21,000 volumes. Written in a number of languages, they mostly concern art and politics. Members of the staff are welcome to borrow the books. The Krupp librarian still puts in an appearance every day to keep the catalogues in order.

A tub in the "master bathroom" is a triumph of ingenuity. Instead of having only hot and cold faucets like ordinary tubs, this has about a dozen taps. Each provides its own brand of invigorating tonic water.

The main reception hall, more than 100 feet long, is lined with 16 large oil paintings, chiefly of the Krupp and the Emperor's family. The flooring is of polished parquet, and 25 feet overhead, is the oak carved ceiling. For lighting there are five chandeliers with 400 bulbs.

Above the reception room, of equal proportions is a ballroom, with a high arched glass roof. Temporary partitions have been erected in the ballroom, which serves as a main office. Executive offices are in lounge rooms off the ballroom.

No Rain Hits Roof
No rain falls on the ballroom's glass roof, for above that is something of a solarium, covered by another roof.

Catwalks in the solarium give a visitor an impression of being on the bridge of a ship. There is a commanding view of the hills and farm country around the Balderny See river.

American troops used the catwalks as an artillery observation post for directing fire against Werden, the next town to the south.

A guide insisted there was a swimming pool in the basement of the immense building, but got lost and couldn't find it. He showed a picture of the pool, tiled with wrought iron fence around it and a statue of a smiling cupid.

Alfred Krupp, the man who brought world-wide fame to the family name, began construction of the house in 1870. He intended it to be fit for visits by kings and emperors but declined to describe the place as a castle. He gave it the name Villa Hugel.

While devoting much attention to the massive structure itself, he imported whole avenues of trees to enhance the grounds. Amid the shrubs there are two ponds, one stocked with carp.

Scattered about the grounds are statues. One, of a collic dog, appears to have been erected by the Krupp children as a memorial to their pets. The base bears names such as Sport, Lumpi, Rooti, Fix, Fox and Nora. The dog's head is broken.

Nearby lie the tail of a bomb and a piece of fuselage from an airplane that apparently had exploded in the sky.

Restrictions Are Made Tighter on Building Orders

Costly Pools, Walls and Non-essentials Take Up Materials That Are Hard to Get

Washington, Oct. 8 (AP)—Reports of $100,000 swimming pools and fences and walls costing $50,000 led the government to tighten its construction restrictions today in favor of veterans housing.

"We had too many loopholes in our previous order," a Civilian Production Administration official told a reporter, citing the costly pools and walls as an example. Brought under controls for the first time are swimming pools, boardwalks, amusement park roller coasters, concrete surfaces for parking lots, tennis courts and drive-in theaters, and walls or fences built of wood, brick, concrete or concrete blocks.

None of these must be planned or started without specific authorization unless they cost less than $200. Similarly, no repairs or alterations may be made without a permit if they cost $200 or more. Those which have been started with the materials on the site may be completed. Permits are required for all others.

"We have to get the bricks and cement to complete veterans' homes first," the C.P.A. official said.

The agency reported that concrete has become scarce in many areas since the original construction restrictions were ordered. Another cutback change was made in the "small jobs" previously allowed without permits for industrial, utility and transportation buildings if they cost under $15,000.

Now these buildings must contain 10,000 or more square feet of floor area to qualify under the $15,000 exemption. Otherwise the job must not cost over $1,000.

C.P.A. said too many "small jobs" were diverting housing materials.

Unchanged under the "small job" category which require no permits are $400 for addition or alteration of a house; $1,000 for a store; and $200 for a billboard or tourist cabin.

In another move to aid the housing program, C.P.A. said it has offered a $20 a ton subsidy for increased production of wire nails.

Nails have been one of the bottlenecks in the housing program for several months, even though recent production has been near 65,000 tons monthly.

The World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(A.P. Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The pressing Palestine problem—like most other major international issues of these dangerous days—is heavily complicated by the differences between Russia and the western allies. That is to say, uncertainty regarding the Soviet Union's ultimate ambitions very definitely enters into Britain's hesitation in dealing with this urgent difficulty. I dare say that if Moscow were maintaining a policy of keeping its hands off the strategically important Middle East, England wouldn't hesitate to agree to increased Jewish immigration into the Holy Land over the objections of the Arabs.

However, John Bull is fearful of making a move which would turn the great Arab world against him and thereby give Russia a chance to add the Middle East to its sphere of influence. As things now stand, if England lost control of that area it would cut her empire into halves from the standpoint of military defense.

In short, the whole political and strategic situation is predicated on Britain's relations with Russia, and at this juncture there is no one outside the Kremlin who knows what is in the mind of the sphynx of Moscow.

Hooks Up Neatly

All this strikes me as hooking up neatly with the disclosure by an authoritative war office source in London that the British general staff has proposed tentatively the withdrawal of British administrative and supply bases in the eastern Mediterranean—including Palestine—to the east African colonies of Kenya and Tanganyika. This source declared that the proposal envisages retention of Britain's forward operational bases as long as practicable in such countries as Palestine, the Sudan, trans-Jordan and Egypt.

Well, now what does this sensational suggestion mean? Up to this juncture Britain's plan for Imperial defense has depended on controlling the Mediterranean and the Suez Canal—her life-line to the Far East—and this necessitated domination of the Middle East with its large Arabian population.

The last war made it clear that it was highly unlikely that Britain could hold the Mediterranean in a third world conflict. Hitler demonstrated that danger when he had European armies driving down toward the Middle East while Marshal Rommel was racing hell-for-leather for Alexandria across the Libyan Desert. Had the Nazi dictator closed that vast pincer, the Allies would have been in a bad way.

Under Military Microscope

These points presumably have been under the military microscope in London. I understand there has been heavy debate among the experts as to which course to pursue—the old or the new.

The old school is said to have advocated sticking to the strategy of trying to defend the Mediterranean route. The new school has wanted to scrap that and establish a defense across Africa from the Gold Coast on the west to Kenya and Tanganyika on the east, with South Africa as a link in this defense to safeguard the Cape of Good Hope route to India and Britain's other Far Eastern territories.

Apparently the new school has won in the main, with the compromise that Britain maintain her Middle Eastern zone of influence so long as feasible. The corollary to this would seem to be that London soon may feel greater freedom of action in dealing with the Jewish-Arab controversy in Palestine. One doesn't suggest, of course, that Britain would agree to unrestricted immigration of Jews against Arab wishes. However, the handling of 100,000 Jewish immigrants—as advocated by Washington—or even double that number, might be achieved without undue difficulties, pending settlement of the question of the Jewish National Home which England promised in 1917.

state and national tickets to victory next month.

To the delight of the Republicans, Roosevelt took the bit in his teeth with an invitation yesterday for former Commerce Secretary Henry A. Wallace to visit Los Angeles October 24 to speak for the state and national tickets. The Democratic chairman told the resigned cabinet member he thought Wallace could help "defeat the reactionary forces within our state."

Trial Is Postponed

Newark, N. J., Oct. 8 (AP)—A murder trial scheduled to start yesterday in Essex County Court was postponed until October 28. No hotel rooms will be available until then for the jury which would have to be sequestered for the trial, expected to take three days to a week.

Republicans Gain 3 Communities In City Elections

Stamford Stays With GOP. Middletown Is Taken by Democrats; State Drive Sharpens

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 8 (AP)—The rival parties were spurred to new efforts in the state political campaign today by the results of municipal elections in 58 Connecticut communities in which Republicans retained control of Stamford while Democrats, for the first time in eight years, captured Middletown.

In addition to maintaining their grip on Stamford, largest of the municipalities balloting for local officers yesterday, the Republicans won control in 49 others of the 58 communities, a net gain of three.

The Stamford election gave a fourth term to Mayor Charles E. Moore, Republican, by less than 1,000 votes, compared with his 1944 plurality of 1,787. Complete returns gave Moore 7,968 votes to 7,063 for his Democratic rival, Edward A. Connell, a newcomer to politics.

Middletown Democrats were led to victory by a World War 2 veteran, Emilio C. Daddario, former Wesleyan football star who served as an army captain with the U.S.S. He defeated the Republican incumbent, Mayor Salvatore T. Cubeta, who was seeking a third term, by less than 400 votes. The 1944 count was Daddario 4,686; Cubeta, 4,306. In 1938, their last previous city election victory, the Democrats won by about 700 votes.

Lewis Is Victor

Another former G.I., Eugene H. Lewis, was a victor in a close contest in Windham, one of three other towns to switch to the Democratic column. He defeated the Republican incumbent, George W. Fraser, for the first selectmanship by 26 votes, 2,250 to 2,224. The other towns changing from Republican to Democratic control were Beacon Falls and Southington.

The state chairman of the rival parties saw hopeful omens in the results for the November 5 elections in which seven seats in Congress, the governorship and other major offices will be at stake. Republican Chairman Harold E. Mitchell said the returns indicated "a powerful Republican potential for the state election next month," although he warned his adherents that "the results in a few of the purely local contests indicate the fallacy of Republican over-confidence that has been apparent in the past few weeks."

John M. Bailey, the Democratic chairman, said the results showed that his party had made "unquestioned gains in the past year," and added:

"The returning voters and new voters are democratically-minded and believe in the liberal principles of the Democratic party."

19 Schoolboys Lose Lives

Apeldoorn, Holland, Oct. 8 (AP)—Seven more schoolboys died in a hospital today, increasing to 19 the number killed by a Dutch naval plane which crashed into a school gymnasium yesterday, setting it on fire. Seven other boys remained in a hospital with burns. Max Chistern, 21, pilot of the British-made Firefly, also was killed when it fell as he was stunting. His mother, watching, died of heart trouble.

Body of Boy, 2, Found in Swamp

Jersey Searchers See Hand Sticking Out of Mud Close to Home

Secaucus, N. J., Oct. 8 (AP)—The sight of a tiny hand protruding from oozy mud at the edge of a stagnant pool brought to a tragic end last night the three-day search for Douglas Koenemund, blue-eyed two-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Koenemund, Sr.

The body of the youngster who disappeared Saturday morning while playing with his brother on the pig farm home of his parents, was discovered on the Super Stock Farm 500 feet from his home by John Zengel and Albert Henkel, both of Secaucus, while searching parties were dynamiting other nearby pools. Police theorized the detonations had brought the body to the surface, shaking it loose from the miry bottom of the pool.

The mother collapsed when told the boy was dead but the father received the news stoically.

Hope of finding the boy alive was virtually abandoned Sunday night.

Willkie Grave Has 12-Foot Granite Cross

New York, Oct. 8 (AP)—Mrs. Wendell L. Willkie, widow of the 1940 Republican presidential candidate, said today her husband's grave at Rushville, Ind., now was marked by a 12-foot granite cross on which was carved a crusader's sword, superimposed on the torch of freedom and the laurel wreath of victory.

Fourteen feet south of the cross, is a stone bench where visitors may sit and read the words of Willkie's creed and quotations from his speeches and book, "One World," printed on the open pages of a granite book.

The relief carving on the cross was designed by sculptress Malvina Hoffman. The cross, book marker and bench are all of North Carolina pink granite quarried at Salisbury, N. C.

"I wanted to make it a very beautiful spot," she said in explaining that landscaping of the memorial would be completed within a week. That's what I'm hoping it's going to be."

Two men worked in the same organization for years with the barest exchange of courtesies between them. They were thrown together recently on a long automobile ride. After discussing the case of the needy person toward whom they were driving, one said to the other:

First Man—Why, you're awfully nice and kind. I thought you were different.

Second Man (confessing)—Well, I never got to know you either because I felt that you disliked me.

Now they are almost bosom companions and regretful of the wasted years.

Young Married Man—The bank has returned our check.

Why expect to get more than you give in your business?

Old Lady (to clerk in drug store)—What have you got for grey hair, young man?

Clerk—Only the greatest of respect, madam.

Sailor (getting in barber chair)—Cut all three short.

Barber—Which three?

Sailor—Whiskers, hair, and chatter.

Jersey Will Concentrate on Camp Shanks Surplus

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 7 (UP)—The Economic Council of the State Department was scheduled today to act on recommendations for acquisition of surplus structures at Camp Shanks and Mineville, N. Y., among other items on New Jersey's emergency program for veterans housing.

Commissioner Charles R. Erdman, Jr., said the council would convene at his offices at 3 p. m., and would also review his suggestions for expanding the State Housing Authority under the direction of his aide, William T.

Vanderlipp, and appointing an advisory housing committee comprised of veterans, building contractors, and organized labor.

Chinese Wife Counted

George White Spalding, 31, thought his Chinese wife didn't count when he filed notice of intention to marry a widow in Falkirk, Scotland. He told the registrar he was a bachelor, but went to jail for 40 days for it. A former prisoner of war in Japanese hands, Spalding had married a Chinese woman in Hong Kong in 1940. He said he had tried in Hong Kong to get the marriage annulled.

Hang on to What You've Got in Appliances, Advice Of Some Industry Sources

By DOROTHY CAREW
New York, Oct. 8 (AP)—You'd better hold on to your refrigerator and your vacuum cleaner, for industry sources said today it will be well into next year before production of basic household goods gets into full swing.

Shortages of raw materials, component parts and skilled labor have hindered output all along the line and many industries do not expect to reach full production for months to come.

There are some exceptions. Gas ranges, for instance, are coming along in good shape. An American Gas Association spokesman said although steel is tight, ranges should be in full production by the last quarter of this year, barring further strikes.

"The scarcity should be of short duration," he said, adding that "the general outlook for gas appliances is conservatively optimistic."

A maker of electric clocks said output is "a lot higher" than in 1941, but the demand is so great stores cannot build up any stock. And factory sales of vacuum cleaners were at a record high in August, said C. G. Frantz, secretary-treasurer of the Vacuum Cleaner Manufacturers Association.

Other Extreme Is Paint
At the other extreme is paint, where the shortage has become progressively more acute because of the scarcity of linseed oil, lead and pigments.

"Present indications are that the paint situation will get even worse before it begins to improve," an industry spokesman said. "We don't look for any improvement at least until spring."

Only exception is water-mix paint, of which supplies are said to be adequate.

Shortages also continue to hound furniture makers. Walter M. Engel, president of the New York Furniture Exchange, said the furniture shortage is "worse than ever and it looks as though it will be next summer before we will see daylight."

That industry lacks seasoned lumber and finds plywood for veneer, hardware, nails and even glue almost impossible to get.

Household Goods
This is how manufacturers and retailers summarized the supply situation in household goods:

FURNITURE—Dining-room and bedroom suites and upholstered pieces will be hard to get until the middle of next year; children's pieces in better supply; plenty of lamps and novelties, and adequate supply of plastic and chrome dinette sets.

ELECTRIC APPLIANCES—Refrigerators slowest and washers next, with both short most of next year; ranges in slightly better supply; electric irons plentiful; toasters and heating appliances in fairly good shape, but mixers, juicers and other types needing fractional horsepower motors, lagging.

GAS APPLIANCES—Ranges in better supply soon; refrigerators improved in spring; water heaters, output good.

KITCHEN CABINETS—Should be pretty well caught up by June or July, 1947.

CARPETS—Output is approaching 2/3 of 1941 rate, but no inventories built up yet.

CURTAINS and DRAPERIES—Curtains easier to get, quality improving.

SHEETS and TOWELS—Sheets and pillowcases very short and will continue so at least until the end of this year. Turkish towels in

FLYING MUSICIANS—Opera singer Mona Paulee holds a wrench for husband Dean Holt as he works on an Army AT-6 plane they bought to make a concert tour. Holt will fly the plane and accompany his wife at the piano.

State-wide Conference On Rural Education

Albany, Oct. 8—A major state-wide conference on rural education will be held in Albany Thursday morning, October 17, the same day as the 80th convocation of the State Board of Regents and the inauguration as Commissioner of Education of Dr. Francis T. Spaulding.

The conference on rural education, called for 9:30 o'clock October 17 by Commissioner Spaulding, is expected to draw a large attendance of school board members, district superintendents of schools and central school and union free school principals from all over the state. The theme will be "Improving the Opportunities for Rural Boys and Girls."

Regent Edward R. Eastman of Ithaca, formerly president of the State Council on Rural Education, and secretary a quarter of a century ago of the "Committee of Twenty-one," will be chairman.

There are 110,500 miles of trolley coach, street car and bus routes in the United States, an increase of two per cent over 1944.

same position, but cotton huck, guest towels and novelties in better supply.

HOUSEWARES—Generally improving with larger and more frequent allotments to stores.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

Duty Bound
San Francisco, Oct. 8 (AP)—Policewoman Elizabeth Rickey doesn't let her small size deter her from doing her duty.

She saw a 150-pound man snatch a case of whiskey from a truck and gave chase. The culprit dropped the liquor and tried to defend himself.

Mrs. Rickey collared the man, dragged him 50 feet to a call box and held him with one hand while she telephoned with the other.

Unfair Exchange
Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 8 (AP)—A thief who stole a dress from J. T. Purviance returned it with a tuck in the size giving evidence of an attempt to reduce the size. But on his return trip the prowler took three blouses and two women's suits—all a size smaller than the dress.

Staggering Turnout
Madison, Wis., Oct. 8 (AP)—The next student campacabana dance will be a date affair only, those in charge of the social activities at the University of Wisconsin indicated today.

The university's ratio of approximately five men for every co-ed was demonstrated at the first dance of the fall semester. The stag turnout was so large there was no room for dancing.

Fowl and Fish
St. Peter, Minn., Oct. 8 (AP)—Arthur Noteboom landed a 63-pound bass when he shot a small teal on the opening day of the duck hunting season.

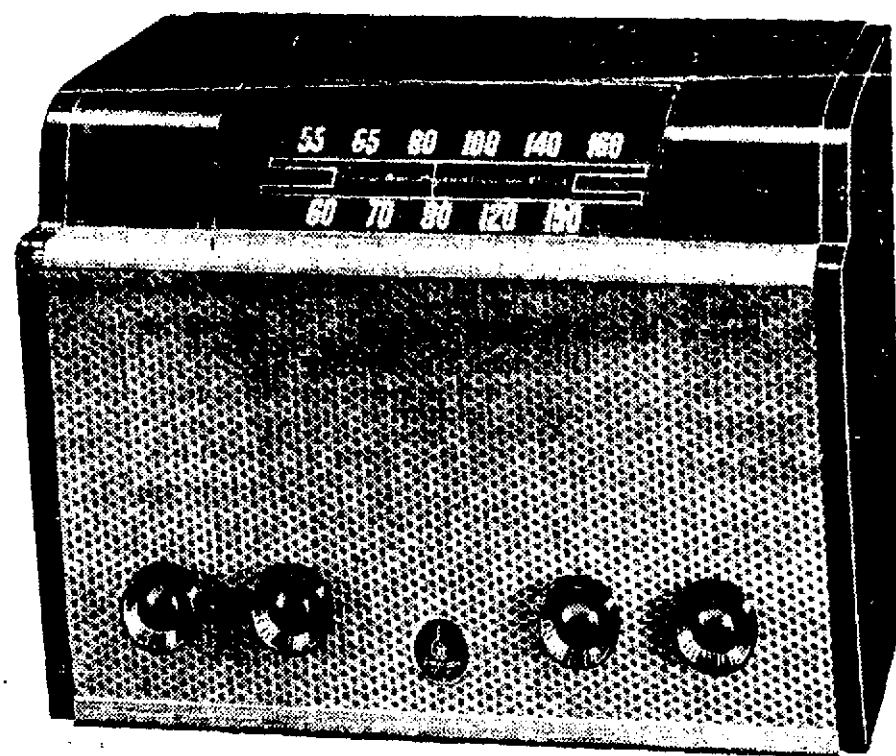

The duck dived in open water and when Noteboom rowed over to retrieve it he found a bass choking on the duck. He scooped both of 'em into his boat.

It's character that counts

When Captain Perry took those fee ringling words for his motto: "Don't give up the ship!" he just about summed up the whole secret of enduring success.

Call it character, if you like. It is what Thos. Carstairs brought to the business of purveying fine liquors in 1788. The most famous descendant of those fine liquors is "Carstairs Est. 1788." It is, today, the proudest whiskey America can boast.

CHARACTER—
Born 1788...Reborn 1946

That ultra luxury whiskey known as "Carstairs Est. 1788"...withdrawn during the war...is now restored to its appreciative friends. "Carstairs Est. 1788" is blended to a taste, not a price. With your first glorious sip of its flavor and mellowness, you will recognize why: "The Man who Cares says—Carstairs."

Margaret Chasey Wed In Neptune City; Father Officiates

Memorial Methodist Church at Neptune City, N. J., was the setting for the wedding Saturday afternoon of Miss Margaret Josephine Chasey, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Joseph W. Chasey, 204 Buttermere avenue, Interlaken, N. J., to Charles Sidney Polhemus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell S. Polhemus, 1205 Ninth avenue, Neptune, N. J. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Joseph W. Chasey, father of the bride, retired pastor who was formerly pastor of St. James Methodist Church in this city. He was assisted by the Rev. Carlton Bodine, pastor of Memorial Methodist Church.

Mrs. Walter Amey was organist. Mrs. James Robinson sang, "Because," and "The Bells of St. Mary's." The Misses Ruth and Betty Parker sang as a closing prayer the hymn, "O, Perfect Love." The church was decorated with fall flowers, white gladioli, white dahlias and palms predominating.

The Rev. Mr. Chasey gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a white bengaline gown with bridal veil and carried a white Testament covered with white roses and white chrysanthemums.

Miss Alice Hopper of Newark, N. J., college friend of the bride, as maid of honor wore a yellow bengaline gown and carried talliumums. Mrs. Esten Tickner, Endicott, was matron of honor for her sister. She wore an aqua bengaline gown and carried yellow roses and yellow chrysanthemums. The bride's mother wore a copen blue crepe dress with corsage of yellow roses and chrysanthemums. The bridegroom's mother chose black and aqua crepe dress with corsage of white chrysanthemums.

Douglas Polhemus, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man. Users were Richard Newman of Neptune, N. J., and Esten Tickner, brother-in-law of the bride, of Endicott.

A reception for more than 100 guests was held in the social room of the church. Mr. and Mrs. Polhemus left for a wedding trip to Virginia. For travelling the bride chose a royal blue wool suit with black accessories. They will make their home in Neptune City, N. J.

Mrs. Polhemus, a graduate of Kingston High School, was graduated in June from New Jersey College for Women at New Brunswick, N. J. She is employed at Steinbach's Department Store, Asbury Park, N. J. Mr. Polhemus served 4½ years in the armed forces, two years of which were in Europe. He is in business at Neptune City.

Personal Notes
Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Kregloskie of 125 Highland avenue drove to Mt. Loretto, Staten Island, Sunday, where they attended the pontifical high Mass celebrated by Bishop Stephen M. Donohue, auxiliary bishop of New York, presided over by Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York. The occasion commemorated the diamond jubilee of the founding of the Mission of the Immaculate Virgin. They were accompanied by Mrs. Richard M. Donnelly, Mr. and Mrs. Leo T. Lynch and Pvt. Joseph T. Lynch of the U. S. Marine Corps.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Gruberg, 18 Home street, left today to make their home in Miami, Fla.

Literacy Tests
Superintendent of Schools C. A. Johnson of the First District announces that, due to the fact that most schools will be closed on November 1 for a conference in New York, literacy tests will be given on October 31.

Edna M. Beaver, Nurse, Culver O. Ten Broeck Wed in Port Ewen

Port Ewen, Oct. 7 — Miss Edna Margaret Beaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Beaver, was united in marriage to Culver Oakley Ten Broeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Culver Ten Broeck, Friday at 8 p. m. in the rectory of the Church of the Presentation. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mark J. Cleary, C.Ss.R.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a blue suit with black accessories and a corsage of white pompons. Miss Audrey A. Gillen, Kingston, as maid of honor, wore a brown suit with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow pompons. The bride's mother chose a blue flower print dress with dark blue accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a black suit with pink accessories and corsage of pink roses.

Thomas Wilson of Poughkeepsie acted as best man. Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Ten Broeck left for New York city where they will leave by plane for a wedding trip to Bermuda. For traveling the bride chose a dark green suit with lime green accessories.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Ten Broeck are graduates of Kingston High School. Mrs. Ten Broeck was graduated from Kingston Hospital School of Nursing in September. Mr. Ten Broeck received his discharge from the army as a lieutenant in January after serving 4½ years. 21 months of which were in Europe. He is employed as an inspector at DeLaval, Poughkeepsie.

Schmid Challenges Legality of Arrest in Schacht Case

Stuttgart, Germany, Oct. 8 (AP)—Dr. Richard Schmid, state attorney of Württemberg-Baden, challenged today the legality of the arrest of Hermann Schacht, last night, and demanded that the former Nazi economic minister be released until he is convicted by a German denazification court.

Schmid cited the German denazification law, which provides that Germans accused of Nazi affiliation should not be confined until after they are convicted by a denazification court. Schacht's arrest was ordered on charges that he had been a "leading" Nazi.

The irascible former Reichsbank head was arrested here last night an hour after he arrived from Nuremberg, where he was acquitted of war crimes charges by the International Military Tribunal a week ago today, and several hours after the chairman of the Nuremberg denazification board announced that proceedings had been instituted against Schacht, Franz von Papen and Hans Fritzsche, also acquitted.

Schacht's arrest was ordered by the Württemberg-Baden Ministry of State despite a declaration earlier in the day by Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy U. S. military governor, that the military government preferred that the three acquitted defendants not be arrested "until they can be tried under denazification laws and found guilty."

Present when German police took Schacht into custody at the home of Paul Reusch, a German mining magnate and a friend of long-standing, were the president of the denazification court of the village of Backnang, where Schacht had planned to take up residence; and the acting minister for denazification of the state of Württemberg-Baden.

Schacht protested his arrest, displaying a letter issued by the U. S. military government granting him freedom of movement but when the arresting officers remained adamant Schacht gathered up his pajamas and toilet kit and accompanied the policemen.

Mrs. Schacht accompanied her husband to the jail and then returned to the Reusch home.

Nobody Wants von Papen

Fritzsche, onetime assistant to Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels, remained at liberty in Nuremberg, and Diplomat von Papen stayed in the Nuremberg jail trying to find a place to live. Both the French and British zones turned him down.

There was no indication as to when, or if, they would face denazification charges.

The U. S. military government in Württemberg-Baden dissociated itself from the Schacht case. Col. W. W. Dawson, director, issued a statement saying "the military government's interest in the matter is solely that there should be orderly procedure."

In Nuremberg, a news blackout still veiled the last days of 11 Nazi ring leaders sentenced by the International Military Tribunal to hang on October 16, but U. S. Army authorities said the Allied Control Council would meet Thursday to arrange final details for the executions.

Britain Faces Problems; Parliament Reassembles

London, Oct. 8 (AP)—Britain's Parliament reassembles after a summer recess today facing a host of problems, including India and Palestine, atomic energy control and numerous controversial domestic matters such as the "squatter campaign" and nationalization of key industries.

First on the House of Commons calendar was an atomic energy bill to empower the government to set up research stations, acquire plants and raw materials and censor atomic information.

Conservatives have opposed the last provision on the grounds that it would establish arbitrary censorship and delay development of atomic energy for industrial purposes.

Despite a heavy accumulation of legislation to be acted upon before the session ends, foreign office sources were certain a debate on foreign affairs would follow adjournment of the Paris peace conference, set for October 15.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's comment on Prime Minister Stalin's statement that he saw no immediate danger of war has been regarded as inconclusive by left wing members of Parliament and some conservatives, who have called for a "major" address in response to the Russian leader. Debates on India and Palestine also seemed likely within a few weeks.

SOLDIER'S MARKER

I am printing the following letter because it is one of several which have asked me this question: "Our son was killed—at least he has been reported missing since the end of the war and it is unlikely that he could be living now. Therefore, we would like to have him represented in our family plot in the cemetery. Is that possible when the body of the deceased will not be in the plot? If it is possible, how would such a marker be worded?"

I know it has been done, but I don't know the exact details further than that a marker was set up with his name, the date and supposed location of his death, that is, instead of saying "died," the wording is "reported missing," followed by "such or such circumstances."

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter's only wedding attendant will be her sister, who was married and divorced and has resumed our family name, calling herself what she did before marriage. How can she be referred to in the newspaper notice? One hardly can refer to her as "Miss Smith, the matron of honor," and yet will it be possible to refer to her as "maid of honor"?

Answer: It is true any women may call herself "Miss" in business and professionally, but in social life she cannot possibly be "Miss" unless she wishes to publicize the fact that she and her husband parted at the church and she is still an unmarried maid. For Mrs. Post's booklet 501.

Federated Sportsmen's Field Day Is Slated for Next Sunday

First Event Since 1942 Scheduled For Katrine Club

All Defending Champions Are Expected to Enter; Committee Expects Big Field to Compete

The annual sportsmen's field day of Ulster county is back after a lapse of three years. Next Sunday morning, October 13, under the auspices of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster county, the annual trap shoot will be held at the new Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club grounds starting at 10:30 o'clock. The grounds may be reached by following Route 9-W and turn west one-quarter of a mile north of the Rose Marie Cabins. Signs will direct motorists to the field.

Two big matches will be held during the day's activities. The first will be the Ulster county championship team race and the second the county individual championship event.

Although definite teams and contestants have not been announced as yet, it is expected that there will be an unusually large field of competitors in Sunday's events. Henry York, chairman of the handicaps committee, said today "judging from the interest shown this year we expect to see a big field competing for honors. Our sportsmen are anxious to get together as we did before the war and this will be their first chance in many years."

Defending Champions

The New Paltz Rod and Gun Club is the defending champion for the Team Scratch Cup, the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club for the Team Handicap Cup and Ed Modjeska who holds the individual county championship. All defenders are slated to compete in Sunday's meet.

Mr. York also announced this morning that rules and regulations governing the team and individual championship races will be the same as those used in previous years. All shooters will be given a copy of these regulations. York said, "either before Sunday or at the field."

Although Sunday's match will start promptly at 10:30 o'clock, shooters desiring practice shots may get in some warm-ups prior to the official starting time. All traps will be opened at 9 o'clock.

Following are the various committees and chairmen for Sunday's event:

Handicap Committee: Henry York, saguities, chairman.
Prize Committee: Roswell Coles, Kingston, chairman.
Field captain: Joseph Zeeh.

Field day treasurer: Carl King, Kingston. Mr. King is secretary-treasurer of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster county.

KHS '11' History

By IRWIN J. THOMAS

This is the 14th in a series of articles presenting an over-all summary of past records made by Kingston High School football teams from 1915 up to the present day.

Tommy Weems, a three-letter athlete at Gettysburg College, took over the coaching reins of Kingston High School's football team in 1940, and after a short schedule of seven games, he produced a team which tied for top honors in the DUSO League with Middletown.

Teams Play Tie

Weems, who replaced G. Warren Kias, Maroon pilot since the season of 1927, brought the K.H.S. gridders to their first victory year by winning five, losing one and tying one. The tie brawl came in the 6-6 affair with Middletown. In other league engagements Kingston defeated Port Jervis, 12-0 and Newburgh, 14-6. The latter victory enabled the Maroons to tie Middletown for first place.

In that tie encounter with Middletown the portable light system went on the blink with Kingston's varsity on the march. After lengthy attempts to repair the trouble, the game was called. The Maroon's lone touchdown came as a result of a brilliant 83-yard run by Jack Fallon, ace Maroon sprinter. Tony Goboe, a well-remembered DUSO gent, counted for Coach Weems' varsity opened the 1940 campaign with two straight whitewashing jobs over Amsterdam and Schenectady (15-0 and 6-0). Then the 6-all tie with Middletown. The Maroon winning streak came to an end the following game when Poughkeepsie belted out a 25-0 decision. Kingston wound up the season with three consecutive wins over Port Jervis, Highland (26-13) and Newburgh.

Three Maroon players were chosen on the 1940 All DUSO team by Hudson Valley writers—Buddy Ellsworth, Fred Hofbauer and Jack Fallon—being the gridders so selected.

The record turned in by the 1940 aggregation was the best for any Kingston club since 1935 when the Klansmen notched seven triumphs in eight starts. It was the fourth year in K.H.S. history that Maroon gridders had completed a season with only one setback. Kingston scored 79 points in 1940 and allowed 50.

The 40 team coached by Tommy Weems' second year as pilot of the local team didn't meet with such success as his 1940 squad. His 1941 aggregation was banged around without mercy as opposing eleven slammed Kingston for six losses in seven starts. The year of 1941 brought about another so-called crumbling of Maroon eleven which continued up to and including the 1945 campaign. From '41 to '45 Kingston gridders won just seven games in 34 starts, a record which was far from making any K.H.S. official very happy.

First Home Night Title

Throughout the 1941 season Kingston scored 38 points and watched 102 go over its goal line. The lone conquest was registered in the opening game in a 13-6 verdict over Amsterdam. The Kingston-Amsterdam clash was the first home night contest in history for the local school and it proved to be a memorable one.

After that first and only win, however, the rest of the year was turned into a complete rout by opposing schools. Mr. Pleasant (18-6), Middletown (19-6), Poughkeepsie (22-6), Port Jervis (28-0), Highland (13-6) and finally Newburgh (16-0) and had a hand in making the local season a very disappointing one for all concerned.

Middletown won the DUSO title in 1941 but a late ruling by Arthur Laidlaw, then president of the league, took away the championship and awarded it to Newburgh due to the ineligibility of Tony Capozella of Middletown.

The 1941 squad included Harry Stahl, Joe Clousi, Bud Ellsworth, "Jiggs" McLaughlin, Joe Clarke, Al Salzman, Leland Boice, Ed Luedtke, Al Fricke, Johnny Rowland, Ronnie Bilyou, Guida, Cahill, Whalen, Mark Kachigan, Lou Salzman, Tom Hencherry, Jack Potter, Roy Masson and Crowley.

Schaefer Holds Record

Philadelphia, Oct. 8 (AP)—Dutch Schaefer, Bronx, N. Y., held the Yellowjacket Speedway's track record today for the 50 lap eastern midwest auto race.

Schaefer took the lead from George Fonder, Allentown, Pa., on the 41st lap of the one-fifth mile track last night when Fonder blew a tire, then swept on to victory in 11:46.31 to break the previous record of 11:54.55 set last year by Rex Records, Larry Bloomer, Norristown, Pa., was second; Joe Carpenter, Farmington, Conn., third; John Ritten, Chicago, fourth; Charles Breese, Philadelphia, fifth; and Sherry McGee, Allentown, Pa., sixth.

Lone Star Ouster Last Week of Aggies Did Trick; Irish Are Rated Third

New York, Oct. 8 (AP)—After two years Army has finally been rooted out of its spot at the head of the nation's football parade.

The nation's sports writers voting in the Associated Press' first weekly poll of 1946 on the top 10 teams in the country, today boosted Dana X. Bible's touchdown-happy Texas Longhorns up to the head of the class.

All told, 108 ballots were cast from coast to coast, and 69 of them voted the straight Texas ticket. Army got 21 first-place votes, and Notre Dame, finishing third, drew 15. One voter balloted for a first-place tie among the Longhorns, the Cadets and the Irish. University of California at Los Angeles and Pennsylvania each drew one of the other two first-place nominations.

Under the usual point system of scoring, 10 for a first-place third, and so on—it was a point finish among the top three, with Texas piling up 999 1-3 points, Army 928 1-3 and Notre Dame 913 1-3. Army's second-place nominations were 36 to 13 for Notre Dame.

It has been just under two years now since Davis, Blanchard & Co. moved into their address on No. 1 Football street. That was two days after they caved the roof on Notre Dame 59-0 in 1944. They've been there ever since.

Out of the Park

But last Saturday, while the Cadets were whipping Cornell 46-21—in a game that saw a team score more points against Army than any other outfit had piled up in three years—Texas took on the Oklahoma Aggies in the nation's outstanding game-of-the-day and just about ran the Cowboys out of the ball park, 54-6. The Longhorns climbed from tenth spot in the national rankings.

For Notre Dame it was somewhat of a rocket rise too, as the Irish, romping over Illinois and Pittsburgh in their two starts this season, climbed from ninth at the end of '45, to third so far in 1946. Michigan, with a total of 632 points, moved up to fourth place in this week's voting, off victories over Indiana and Iowa.

The rest of the first 10 were distanced in the voting. The U.C.L.A. powerhouse, was fifth with 401 points. Alabama's Rose Bowl champions, second only to Army last year, dropped to sixth in the current balloting, with 352. Pennsylvania was seventh with 254 1/3. Georgia and Tennessee tied for eighth with 247 and Northwestern, impressive 28-0 winner over Wisconsin last Saturday, moved up to tenth, with 177.

Second Ratings

The second 10: 11—Columbia, 146; 12—Illinois, 119; 13—Louisiana State, 94; 14—Ohio State, 77 1/3; 15—Yale, 47; 16—St. Mary's (California), 45; 17—Stanford, 38; 18—Arkansas, 23; 19—tie between Kentucky and North Carolina State, 17 each.

Others receiving one or more points: Iowa, 15; Oklahoma, 13 1/3; Oklahoma Aggies, 13; Tulane and North Carolina, 11 each; Texas Tech and Tulsa, 10 each; Navy, 9; Indiana, 7; Rice, Harvard, Cornell and Minnesota, 5 each; Nebraska, Georgia Tech and Nevada, 3 each; Dartmouth, Virginia, Wisconsin and Wake Forest, 2 each; Penn State, South Carolina, Mississippi State, Oklahoma City, Hardin-Simmons and U. of Washington, 1 each.

Michigan Will See Blanchard Play

Reported Recovered From Injury to Knee

New York, Oct. 8 (AP)—Felix (Doc) Blanchard, Army's line-cracking fullback who has been sidelined the last two games because of a knee injury, will be available for duty against Michigan next Saturday.

The news that "Mr. Inside" has fully recovered from a strained ligament and probably will get into mid-week scrimmage at West Point was brought to the New York football writers' weekly luncheon yesterday by Lt. Bob McKinnon, Army scout.

And from what McKinnon had to say after watching Fritz Crisler's Wolverines beat Iowa last Saturday, Blanchard's return will be welcomed by Army Coach Earl (Red) Blaik.

McKinnon reported Michigan is "at least 35 per cent better than last year's team and much like Army's 1944 outfit in depth. Crisler can use three elevens and you can't tell the difference in play."

The 1946 Michigan club handles the ball even better than the 1945 team that gave Army plenty of trouble. McKinnon said, adding "a kick for a yard game and the breaks will tell who wins it."

McKinnon said Blanchard was set to play against Cornell last Saturday. "Fortunately, in the first quarter it was obvious we wouldn't need him, so we gave him the added rest," the Army scout said. "Doc'll scrimmage this week. He's 100 per cent ready to go, as is the rest of the team."

Herschel (Lig) Fuson, who missed most of the Cornell game because of a hip injury, also will be ready to start at right half-back. McKinnon said, Fuson, converted from center to the half-back, look spot when Thomas (Shorty) McWilliams quit the team, he has found a fifth and Sherry McGee, Allentown, Pa., sixth.

McWilliams quit the team, he has found a fifth and Sherry McGee, Allentown, Pa., sixth.

Jones Dairy Takes Pair From Van Kleecks; Broskie Polishes Maples for 569

Johnny Ferraro, rated the ace of the entire Hudson valley district, narrowly missed becoming the first bowler in the city to hit the "700 Club" roster last Saturday night at the Central Rec alleys when he wound up with a gaudy 699 triple for Jones Dairy. One in the match with the Van Kleecks.

The "Ace" opened with a crisp 220 game and then polished the maples for a 234. Going into the last frame needing a strikeout for the 700 series, Johnny reeled off two straight strikes but left two pins upright on his third ball.

As a result of the 699 triple and not the coveted 700, Jones Dairy dropped the last game by 940 to 939. The Dairymen took the first two games 992-850 and 989-895.

Harold Broskie, Ad Jones, Johnny Schatzel and Bob Hanley all had a big hand in the two victories. Broskie followed Ferraro with 569 while Jones and Schatzel blasted out 563 and 560. Hanley's three-trimer totaled 529.

Gil Sampson's string of 149, 220 and 214 gave him a 583 pacer for Van Kleecks. Charlie Gruenwald posted 539. Dick Howard 537 and Ray Roux 538.

Following is the score:

JONES 1 (2) Hanley 210, 177, 242; 529; Schatzel 182, 210, 168; 559; Jones 185, 175, 203; 569; Broskie 195, 192, 181; 568; Ferraro 220, 234, 242; 699. Totals 992, 989, 939—2920. High Praise for Tucker

Philadelphia, Oct. 8 (AP)—Villanova's football Coach Jordan Oliver says Navy may be in for a "somewhat rough" time when it tackles Army whose quarterback Arnold Tucker "is one of the smartest in the business. Jordan, whose team is the only one to date to meet (and bow to) both Army and Navy, told yesterday's 1946 luncheon of the Maxwell Football Club, Tucker "is just as responsible for making Army go as his more publicized teammates."

Mixed League

Johnny "The Ace" Ferraro and Nick Turck divided the spotlight in Sunday's Mixed League matches at the Central Rec alleys. Ferraro pounded out a sizzling 637 triple to tie Dick Howard for the league high three-trimer with his pulverizing string of 202, 203 and 232. Nick Turck, meanwhile, established a new high single score for the league with a 245 solo in his last game. Turck's new mark surpasses the 242 formerly held by Ferraro.

The hot battle for first place waged on Sunday night when Kaye Sportswear dumped the Slover-Jansen-Schline keggers in two out of three. Despite the two losses, the S.J.S. five maintains a one game lead over the Kayes. Margie Jansen sparked the winners with her 535 triple while Don Peterson cracked out 498 for the S.J.S. team.

The Colonial Cleaners and Leventhals are now tied for third place after Sunday's matches. The Colonials took a pair from Williams Lake behind Nick Turck's 523 and Bob Myers' 544. Casey Griffin hit 469 for the Williams Lake squad. Leventhals dropped a pair to Wilber Coal as Harry Wilber walked off with a neat 570 triple and 201 single. Grace Sabo also hit 500. Chris Backman posted 509 for Leventhals.

Despite Johnny Ferraro's 637 triple the United Cleaners lost two games to the Chalet. George Castor and Johnny "Red" Sangi combined their efforts with 557 and 524 triples. Dick Howard and Irwin Thomas banged out 539 and 514 triples for the losers.

The scores:

Hudson Valley League

The Newburgh Empires took all three games from Jones Dairy Team 2 Sunday on the Hilly City lanes. W. Tarsio and Martini cracked the maples for 645 and 622 series to pace the Newburghers. W. Tarsio's 242 single was high in the match.

George "Curly" Flemings, lead-off for the local daylirmen, topped the losers with a 570 triple. George also registered high single for the team with a 213 in his opening game.

The Newburgh Taxi Service came through with a pair of wins over the Kingston Trailways Sunday. Gordon's 608 highlighted the winning five while Swint posted 562 for the Trailways.

Johnson Is Improved

Washington, Oct. 8 (AP)—Walter Johnson was "considerably improved" today at Georgetown Hospital, where the former American League strikeout king is under treatment for a brain tumor.

His condition had become so critical during the week-end that members of his family were called to his bedside. Johnson, who is 38, entered the hospital in April.

Ferriss May Toss in Boston Against Cards, but Will See Only Limited Series Play

Cards 3-0 Victory Puts New Slant on Things; Williams Held to Single Hit

By JACK HAND

En Route to Boston, Oct. 8 (AP)—Harry (The Cat) Brecheen's darting screwball, the best any left hander has shown since Carl Hubbell quit, has restored the 1946 World Series to an even proposition.

As the teams took the day off for travel to Boston's Fenway Park after splitting the first two in St. Louis, Manager Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox still had an ace up his sleeve—Dave (Boo) Ferriss, who had reeled off 25 victories of the Sox total of 104. But he now will be able to see only limited action.

By holding out Ferriss to work the third game tomorrow against Murry Dickson at Fenway Park, Cronin probably will be unable to get more than two games out of his ace winner.

More than one baseball observer sensed in the Cardinals' aggressive play during the first two games the hint of a tremendous upset comparable to the one the 1912 Red Birds handed the mighty New York Yankees.

Billy Southworth was gone, but Eddie Dyer, a new type of inspiring leader, had come along with a blend of young players and such holdovers as Terry Moore. Enos Slaughter, Willie Kuroski, Marty Marion and Stan Musial, then a rookie with the '42 world champs.

One hit for Williams While losing the opener in 10 innings 3-2, and grabbing yesterday's second game 3-0, the Cardinal pitchers have turned back Johnny Pesky, a .335 hitter, without a hit in nine at-bats. They also have held the great Ted Williams with the "Dyer shift" to one hit in seven trips. Rudy York's game-winning homer in the first game was the only Boston extra base hit. The Birds have registered four doubles and a triple.

Dyer's lefthanded pitching by Pollet and Brecheen deserve credit for shacking the Sox power.

Brecheen's swerving screw ball came in for the most attention in the American League club house.

The talented, southpaw from Broken Bow, Okla., winner of 15 and loser of 15 in the regular season, counted five shutouts in his record before yesterday's brilliant job that stopped Boston 3-0.

Series Will Continue

The series now will continue at least through Friday at Boston, and is quite likely to be carried to a sixth game Sunday back at Sportsman's Park. A seventh, if necessary, will be played in St. Louis a week from today, after a Monday off for selling tickets.

The Cards' hitting pitchers helped win, repaying Dyer for his insistence on the hurlers taking a regular turn in batting practice since way back in spring training days at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Brecheen came up in the third inning with catcher Del Rice perched on second base as a result of his double to the left field wall.

"The Cat" dumped a single which drove in Rice with a run that proved enough to beat Mickey Harris, the rival southpaw.

Dyer's appointment of Rice as catcher was a master move, since Rice added a leadoff single in the fifth which provoked a two-run uprising.

After Rice's single to left, Brecheen dropped a bunt down the third base line. Pinky Higgins rushed in for the ball, and threw wildly into short center field. Rice wound up on third, and the alert Brecheen on second. Terry Moore's single drove in Rice, and Brecheen came across with the last run of the day while the Bobby Dyer-Pesky-York combination was trying futilely for a double play on Stan Musial's rap to second base.

Brecheen struck out four men and walked three. One of the passes was intentional.

Harris pitched a good enough ball game to win nine times out of ten, but even Smokey Joe Wood, Red Sox pitching hero of old, had to have at least one run.

Full Attendance Urged for K.A.A. Meeting Tonight

A full attendance of all members is requested for tonight's important meeting of the Kingston Athletic Association. The meeting will be held at the Elks' Club on Fair street and will start at 8 o'clock sharp.

"We've cut down on our meeting nights to just one a month now," President Thomas Davitt commented today, "and with this in mind I feel confident that most of the members will make it their aim to be at the session." During pre-game plans for the Brooklyn Dodgers Junior baseball contest the association held meetings every Tuesday night.

President Davitt announced Monday that a full report of all proceeds from that recent contest played at municipal stadium will be presented during the meeting this evening.

Maroon Gridders Face Big Test With Middies Friday

Middletown Pounds Out Impressive 40 to 0 Victory Saturday Over Schenectady

As Coach Willard Burke put his Kingston High School moleskiners through their last week of practice prior to the season's first DUSO League game of the 1946 campaign, it was becoming more and more evident that the local team must show a lot more class Friday night if it hopes to escape a real trouncing by Middletown.

High's strong eleven.

While the Burkemen were enjoying a rest over the week-end by taking in the Army-Cornell game at West Point through the courtesy of Clarence Rowland, Middletown's impressive team was registering its second straight triumph of the current season by humbling Mt. Pleasant of Schenectady 40 to 0.

Two weeks ago Middletown slammed out a 38 to 0 victory over Saunders Tech of Yonkers but reviewers who watched the slaughter weren't impressed. However, in Saturday's lacing of Mt. Pleasant critics straightened up and began talking about another DUSO League winner.

Much of this will be decided at municipal stadium Friday night under the arclights when Middletown comes in to play Kingston.

Port Jervis and Newburgh also will be looking up in a DUSO league affair that evening.

Burke Sees Game

Coach Burke took a busman's holiday Saturday afternoon when he traveled up to Schenectady to watch the proceedings of the Middle-Mt. Pleasant fracas.

This morning, in a telephone conversation, the Maroon grid mentor said he was impressed after seeing Middletown in action. "The Middies have a sharp and experienced squad. They don't make many mistakes and they have a good scoring offensive." The ex-Highland mentor went on to add, however, that Middletown players aren't any bigger than Kingston.

According to Coach Burke his Maroon warriors have a good chance in Friday's important struggle at the uptown ball park.

"If my boys play the kind of ball I know they can play, then we may knock off Middletown. Our offensive shouldn't have too much trouble. Right now our main weakness lies in defense."

This will be Kingston's first gridiron engagement since the Highland fiasco two weeks ago when the Southern Ulster eleven romped to a 27-13 victory over Kingston. A win over Middletown Friday would partially make up that stinging defeat.

Charlie Murray, the pile-driving fullback of Middletown, paced the Middies in Saturday's big win over Schenectady. Touchdowns were registered by Joe Berthoff, Hank Kindberg, Sal Sardella, Tom Esposito, Ross Newkirk and Herc Thornton. Thornton also booted four extra points after touchdowns.

Other District Results

In other district games over the week-end Poughkeepsie slaughtered St. Francis Prep of Brooklyn at Memorial Field by 37 to 0.

Weather for 3rd Game Is Forecast as Poor

Boston, Oct. 9 (AP)—Revising an earlier forecast, the Boston Weather Bureau said today that "it won't be very good weather" for the third World Series game tomorrow between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Boston Red Sox.

The forecaster said it would be "cloudy, rainy, windy and quite cool."

An earlier report said it might be an ideal day—sunny and warm.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
NEW YORK STATE
CONSERVATION DEPARTMENT
CATSKILL MOUNTAIN FISH HATCHERY
Sealed proposals will be received by the undersigned at the office of the New York State Conservation Department, Broadway Arcade Building, Albany, N. Y., until one o'clock P. M. (Eastern Standard Time) on Oct. 22, 1946, and will be publicly opened and read at the time and place above mentioned for the construction of a new fish hatchery at Catskill Mt. Fish Hatchery, located in Sullivan County, Town of Rockland, on a town road about ten miles north of Liberty, and about two miles north of DeBuck, N. Y.

Work consists of excavation, grading, two small concrete dams, concrete pond construction, pipe lines, drives, landscaping, etc.

Plans and specifications may be inspected at these offices:

1. N.Y.S. Conservation Dept., Room 512, Broadway Arcade Building, Albany, N. Y.

2. Mr. J. J. Connelley, William J. Goodman, 105 Prince St., Kingston, N. Y.

Plans, specifications, and proposal forms may be obtained from Mr. E. F. Smith, Asst. Administrator, Finance Officer, State Conservation Department, Albany, N. Y., upon payment of a fee of five dollars ($5.00). No refund of this fee will be made to any person.

All proposals must be made on the official proposal form and enclosed in an envelope which must be sealed and prominently marked "Proposal for Construction at Catskill Mt. Fish Hatchery." Each proposal must be accompanied by a properly certified check for 5% of the amount of bid without condition payable to "State of New York, Commissioner of Taxation and Finance," as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into the contract and furnish the required bonds. If the contract is awarded to him, checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned upon the execution of the contract and furnishing of the bonds by the successful bidder.

The Conservation Department reserves the right to reject any or all bids. An approved performance bond to the extent of 100 per cent of the contract price and an approved security bond guaranteeing the laborers and materialmen to the extent of one hundred (100) per cent of the contract price will be required from the successful bidder.

Proposals from "Foreign Contractors" must be accompanied by a certificate of the New York State Tax Commissioner that taxes due and payable under provisions of Articles 9A and 16 of the Tax Law have been paid.

Two Parties Are United On Trials

U. S. Senator, said in a statement that he was "deeply shocked" at Taft's declaration, adding he felt it would "be repudiated by right-thinking and fair-minded Americans."

Appearing later on the same platform with Mead, Lehman said the convicted Nazis were guilty of slaying 10 million people.

"And yet a spokesman for the Republican Party dares to come before the American people and condone these crimes," he said.

Frances L. McElroy, Democratic state committee member, said in a statement that Taft's criticism of the verdicts represented an attitude "typical of all Republican isolationist leaders."

Dewey's defense of the Nuernberg verdicts overshadowed his campaign speech, for it brought him into open disagreement with Taft on an international question.

Not Mentioned by Name
His statement did not mention Taft by name nor did it refer specifically to his Nuernberg comment.

The Dewey-Ives statement said the comment of the governor and his chief running mate was in response to press inquiries.

Taft condemned the Nuernberg verdicts last Saturday at a speech and in an open forum at the Kenyon (Ohio) conference on the heritage and responsibility of the English speaking peoples.

He said the United States had righted its balance in the garment of legal procedure and expressed belief that most Americans viewed with disfavor the war trials in Nuernberg and those in progress in Japan.

Taft's View
The trials "violate that fundamental principle of American law that a man cannot be tried under an ex post facto (retroactive) statute," Taft asserted.

The senator said that life imprisonment "just as was given Napoleon" would have been sufficient punishment for all those found guilty at Nuernberg.

Last night in Detroit, Taft said he did "not care to comment pending fuller study" of statements by other Republican and Democratic leaders protesting his declaration.

In Washington, Democrats who have experienced their own intra-party troubles of late, gleefully hailed the Taft-Dewey cleavage as likely to lessen the emphasis on the recent foreign policy schism between the Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace and Secretary of State James F. Byrnes.

Charges Muddled Thinking
Senator Lucas (D-Ill.), describing Taft's stand as a "classical example of his muddled and confused thinking," predicted in a statement that Carroll Reece, chairman of the Republican National Committee, "will not permit the senator to make any more speeches."

"I charge that the Senator (Taft) made the statement about the Nuernberg trial solely for political vengeance or advantage. And I predict that this will be a boomerang upon his aspirations for the Presidential nomination in '48."

Dewey Talks on Shortages
In his campaign address, Dewey again assailed President Truman's Democratic administration, blaming it for meat and other shortages.

"Our people stand in lines for meat—and there is no meat," Dewey said, "we still need new cars, our national housing shortage is critical, our hopes for a better world are being blotted out by clouds of Washington confusion."

"And yet, the people of New York state are now being asked to set up in Albany a branch office of that Washington chaos."

Dewey said the "basic issue" in the November 5 elections was: "What kind of government do you want in the state of New York? Shall we continue teamwork government as we have known it for the last four years?"

He defined "teamwork government" as one "that is working all the time for the welfare of its people." He said it means government that is helping you, whether you are a farmer, businessman, a worker or a housewife, to meet your everyday problems."

Half Billion Saved
His administration has given that kind of government, Dewey said. In support of his claim, he said the state saved a half-billion dollars in wartime for peacetime rebuilding of the state's services and infrastructure.

Moreover, he declared, his administration had cut taxes, established a department of commerce to encourage new business and job opportunities, helped the farmers win the wartime "battle" of food production despite what he called restrictive Washington "bureaucracy," and enacted liberalized labor legislation.

"As we look at the record," Dewey concluded, "think you and I can say that by teamwork in our state government we have created the conditions under which all of us who work for a living have found our state government a helpful and progressive partner. I like to think that everyone of you is part of that team."

In his A.L.P. rally speech, Mead declared that "for political purposes, Thomas E. Dewey has assumed the mantle of liberalism and the pose of a friend of labor. In his recent political speeches, he has tried hard to describe himself as a liberal."

Mead's Charges
"The working people of this state will not be taken in by the Dewey self-proclaimed pretensions that he is their advocate," Mead continued. "We know only too well from bitter experience that he and his machine are the tools of the forces of reaction which have tried to block and destroy the advance of the working people."

"Dewey is a liberal—only when handing out special favors to the favored few. He is progressive—only when advancing the interests of the privileged. He is generous—only when he offers protection to entrenched wealth and power."

"The Dewey technique is clear," he said, "pay lip-service to the law, but don't enforce it."

Lehman, in his speech, said that "a fair employment practices act, national in scope, must be enacted by the Congress without delay."

"The people of the nation want and are entitled to a strong and effective F.E.P.C. which will give effect to the American principle of equal opportunity for all."

only the Stuyvesant but also the taverns and restaurants operated by the officers of the Ulster County Liquor Dealers Association.

Refused Service
The union bartender at the Stuyvesant refused to serve customers when a non-union relief worker reported for the week-end business.

The Ulster County Liquor Dealers Association subsequently issued a statement denying that it forbade individual members of the association from entering into a contract with Local 666.

Fred J. Eisler, manager of the Stuyvesant, has contended that he would permit a union election among his employees when the union was able to furnish proof that a majority desired organization.

The threat of picketing has been forestalled pending the October 16 hearing, George E. Yerry, business agent of Local 666, said today.

Hurricane Loses Force in Florida, Damage Is Slight

City today, the advisory concluded.

Earlier advisories had indicated the storm would enter the Atlantic in the Jacksonville area and pick up in intensity over the water with a possible threat to the thickly-populated east coast.

Hurricane warnings remained displayed north of the Florida Keys to Cedar Keys on the Florida west coast and from Melbourne to Fernandina on the east, while storm warnings were up from Apalachicola to south of Atlantic City.

Apparently the howling storm began to die rapidly as it approached Florida's west coast yesterday. As late as 4 p. m. winds of 95 miles an hour were reported at the center. Fort Myers, where the storm missed by some 90 miles, had winds up to 56 miles an hour and gusts up to 80.

Heavy rains also fell in western Kansas and Oklahoma, causing some damage but benefiting cropland. In Oklahoma, county agents said the moisture content of the soil was the best since 1941.

Although disrupting highway and rail traffic and damaging some row crops in the south plains region, the ultimate benefit of the rains will be to replenish the sub-soil moisture for spring grazing next year, cattlemen said.

More Than 300,000 Register in New York

New York, Oct. 8 (AP)—More than 300,000 persons registered to vote in the forthcoming elections in New York city yesterday on the first day of the week-long 1946 registration period.

The total registration—307,992—nearly doubled the 169,348 for the first registration day in the 1942 gubernatorial balloting. The 1942 total registration was 2,145,473, including 22,304 veterans.

Since 1942 the only year that yesterday's total was exceeded was in the presidential year of 1944 when 436,321 registered on the first day.

Two-Day Registration Totals 4,572 in City
Kingston's registration of voters for the November election for the first two days totals 4,572, exceeding the first two days in 1945, by 732.

Yesterday the second district of the Sixth ward and the Eighth ward, which had failed to report the registration of Saturday, filed the missing figures with the police department, bringing the total of 2,213 for Saturday to 2,400. The registration on the first day was 2,167.

The last two days of registration for the November election are Friday and Saturday of this week. The polls on Friday will be open from 10 a. m. until 10 p. m., while Saturday the polls will open at 7 a. m., and close at 10 p. m.

Allied Control Council Will Meet Wednesday
Berlin, Oct. 8 (AP)—The Allied Control Council for Germany will meet in extraordinary session here at 11 a. m. (5 a. m. E.S.T.) tomorrow to consider clemency appeals for Nazi war criminals sentenced by the International Military Tribunal a week ago.

The special meeting was called by the council's chairman for the month, French Gen. Pierre Koenig. The council's regular meeting date is Thursday.

Appeals have been filed by all but three of the 19 Nazis sentenced. Those who disclaimed appeals were Ernst Kaltenbrunner, the Gestapo chief, sentenced to die; Munitions Minister Albert Speer and Youth Leader Baldur von Schirach, sentenced to serve 20 years each.

Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, sentenced to life imprisonment, has requested that he be shot instead.

New York Makes Room For 5 Tons of Elephants
New York, Oct. 8 (AP)—Crowded New York city made room today for three tons of elephants.

They are Zangulima, Doruma and Bamanga—African elephants—who arrived here yesterday aboard the S. S. Tamerlane as a gift to the Bronx Zoo from the Belgian Congo government.

They were the first elephants shipped here since 1939.

The animals—of the temperamental African variety—were "as gentle as lambs" on the 40-day sea voyage, keeper Robert Montana said.

Injury Increase Cited
Chicago, Oct. 8 (AP)—H. V. Porter, executive-secretary of the National Federation of High School Associations, today attributed a rise in football fatalities among prep players this season to an estimated 15 per cent increase in the number engaged in the sport. Nine deaths thus far have been noted by The Associated Press—eight of the victims being high school youngsters and one a college student. Six fatalities directly attributed to accidents on the gridiron were reported for the entire season last year. "An estimated 450,000 schoolboys are playing football this season," Porter said.

Births Recorded
The following births have been reported to the Board of Health: Mr. and Mrs. William R. Short of 244 Elmendorf street, a daughter, Judith Elaine, in Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor A. Mahoney of Gardiner, a son, Charles, in Benedictine Hospital.

25 Extra Jurors Called by Bergan For Supreme Court

October Term Will Open
October 14 at 10 a. m.;
40 Trial Jurors
Summoned

Inability to secure a panel of grand jurors from those regularly summoned, caused Justice Francis Bergan to direct that an extra panel of 25 grand jurors be summoned for next Monday at 10 a. m., when the October trial term of Supreme court convened Monday. Following hearing of excuses last Monday the grand jury will be organized.

The same situation existed so far as trial jurors was concerned when excuses had been heard and Justice Bergan directed an extra panel of 40 trial jurors summoned for Wednesday, October 10, at 10 a. m. Jurors of the original panel were excused until that time and court recessed until Wednesday morning after making up a day calendar.

Members of the new panel of grand jurors are:
Braithwaite, Harry, Shokan.
Cook, Dyrus, Woodstock.
Crowell, DeWitt G., Wallkill.
Egner, Irving, 41 Garden street.
Elliott, Chester, R.F.D. New Paltz.

Finger, Howard, Jane street, Saugerties.
Gray, Cecil, Olive Bridge.
Hedges, Nelson, Gardiner.
Jansen, Charles O., Pine Bush.
Joyce, Michael, West Hurley.
Lasher, Grover, 75 Lucas avenue.

MacDaniel, Elizabeth, Shady.
McGowan, John, Marlborough.
Myer, Ford, Esopus Creek Road.
Paklowicz, Louis, Rifton.
Pratt, Mary E., 153 Prospect street.
Quigley, John J., 97 Main street.

Archbishop's Case Is Due for Summation

Zagreb, Yugoslavia, Oct. 8 (AP)—Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac's lawyers go before a three-judge people's court today with a summation of their defense of the 48-year-old churchman, charged with Axis collaboration. Stepinac, head of the Roman Catholic Church in Yugoslavia, and 15 others have been on trial since September 30, accused of aiding the puppet Croatian government of Dr. Ante Pavelic and its Ustashi terrorists organization. Summarizing the government case, Public Prosecutor Jacob Blazevic last night contended the archbishop's alleged connection with the enemy and the collaborationist regime had been proved. He called upon the court to judge Stepinac "according to his acts" but asked acquittal for four young Franciscan monks and leniency for "those who have repented."

Wicks Fire Company To Demonstrate Horn

If the fire horn at the A. H. Wicks Engine Co. fire house on Foxhall avenue is heard to sound between the hours of 7 and 7:30 o'clock this evening, it will not mean that there is a fire. The fire department plans to demonstrate the horn to a group from the Binnewater Fire Department, who plan to purchase a similar horn if the demonstration meets the approval of the group. The horn at the Wicks engine house was installed six years ago. It is known as an air horn, and is electrically operated.

Meat Decontrol Petition Awaited

number of cattle on farms near record levels, the potential supply of meat—particularly beef—is ample if it could be drawn to market. Andersson is required to grant or deny a decontrol petition within 30 days after it is made. If the petition is denied, the committee may request a formal hearing before the secretary.

Should the petition again be denied, the industry committee may appeal to the three-man decontrol board, whose decision would be final.

In its report on prospects for moving next year's farm crops, the Agriculture Department said: "Current shortages of rail transportation for movement of agricultural products are expected to continue through 1947."

"Refrigerator cars for fruits, vegetables, meats and other perishables will probably fall short of requirements. The present critical shortage of box cars of grain and grain products will probably not be eased materially. Supplies of stock cars for livestock are expected to be adequate."

The department said considerable improvement is likely in motor-truck transportation. But coastwise and intercoastal shipping is not likely to be restored completely to pre-war levels in the coming year.

Woman Is Branded

Sydney, Oct. 8 (AP)—A young mother who told police she had been assaulted by two young men in a Sydney suburb last night was found by doctors to have been branded 11 times on the breasts with lighted cigarettes. The woman, 25-year-old Margaret Allen, mother of a five-year-old girl, told police she had been dragged into an automobile near her home by two men who asked to use her address of a local resident. Doctors said Mrs. Allen, whose husband was discharged from the army only last week, had not been raped.

Marine Engineers Ask Full Help in Assisting Pickets

New York, Oct. 8 (AP)—The C.I.O. Marine Engineers Beneficial Association strike steering committee said today that while its nationwide strike has been supported by "most of the A.F.L. members in the maritime industry" (by) more than 90 per cent of the longshoremen and teamsters—"the support has not been 100 per cent effective."

"A few teamsters, longshoremen and other A.F.L. members have been working the docks where M.E.B.A. has established picket lines," the committee said in a statement.

It called on the A.F.L. Maritime Trades Council to remedy the situation by instructing all union officials under its jurisdiction that "no A.F.L. members are to cross M.E.B.A. picket lines." Local 88 of the A.F.L. Masters, Mates and Pilots of America, which struck with the Marine Engineers at midnight September 30 upon expiration of their contract, last night voted to expel from its membership individuals held responsible for recent disorders in the waterfront.

A meeting of the local last Friday broke up in a riot which was quelled by police with drawn guns after a rank-and-file group had demanded the election of a new strike committee and renunciation of two suspended members.

The M.E.B.A. and the C.I.O. Marine Engineers Beneficial Association struck September 30 at midnight upon expiration of their contracts.

Schacht Had His Last Cup of Coffee in Jail

Nuernberg, Oct. 8 (AP)—The coffee which Hjalmar Schacht threw at Associated Press Photographer E. I. Sanders August 29 was the last cup the former president of the Reichsbank ever got in Nuernberg prison, Maj. Frederick Teich said today.

Teich, a security official, said Schacht's coffee was cut off immediately and water was the only liquid he received until he was released.

Schacht sprayed the coffee on Sanders in a fit of temper because the photographer had been given permission to take his picture at mealtime. Sanders wiped off his camera and took the picture.

2 Persons Killed In Plane Crash; 3 Are Hurt in Wreck

United Air Lines Craft
Carrying 46 Falls
on Military Section
in Wyoming

Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 8 (AP)—Two passengers from among 46 persons aboard a San Francisco to Chicago United Air Lines Mainliner were killed early today when the four-engine ship crashed on the Fort Warren military reservation a mile and a half northwest of Cheyenne.

Coroner Wesley Schrader announced that one of the dead was William Wang, about 35, of San Francisco. The other victim was a woman about 50 years old. Efforts to identify her had not proven successful several hours after the accident.

United Airlines officials announced that only two or three other passengers were hospitalized, and their names and the extent of their injuries was not immediately known.

Other passengers, including two infants, escaped injury and were at the airport awaiting transportation in another plane to continue their trips according to company officials.

What caused the plane to crash as it approached the airport for its only stop between San Francisco and Chicago, was not immediately known. The accident occurred about 4:33 a. m. (M.S.T.).

Pilot of the ship was U.A.L. Capt. L. W. Smith. Other crew members, who along with Smith escaped injury, were J. L. Buchanan, co-pilot; Margaret Ford and M. L. Cerney, stewardesses.

Sheriff Norbert E. Tuck said the large plane broke in two when it crashed on the military reservation not far from the post ammunition dump.

The sheriff and company officials said the plane did not catch fire. All cargo and mail was saved. Civil Aeronautics authorities, who started an immediate investigation said there was a light fog and a 400-foot ceiling.

The site of the accident was only a mile and a half northwest of the United Airlines field.

The plane's American pilot and 31 passengers were last reported in the somewhat precarious protection of a Lolo family, and the general searched an aide and a Lolo guide in an effort to locate them. He first had organized a search party of 17, but hostile natives barred his way.

Greece Asks Arms To Fight Bandits

Would Arm Civilians in North Provinces

London, Oct. 8 (AP)—A foreign office spokesman said today Greece had asked Britain to supply arms for the use of Greek civilians "in fighting bandits" in the northern provinces of that troubled kingdom.

The spokesman said the request had been taken under advisement, along with a Greek request for advice on Premier Constantin Tsaldaris' proposal to organize civilians in the northern regions, where the British said two weeks ago fighting amounted to a "small scale civil war."

Unofficial Whitehall sources indicated that a statement of British policy in Greece might be issued tonight.

Services Continue

Last evening at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church the preaching mission services being conducted by the Rev. William Ayer, D. D., pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, New York, were continued. His topic was "God's Revelations to Man." His topic at 7:30 this evening at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church will be "Unpardonable Sin—What It Is and Who Commits It." The prayer Monday evening was by the Rev. Walter Wright of Shokan. Music was under direction of Fred Fatum and a combined choir. Mrs. Lester Decker presided at the organ.
